Mr Wm Pfunder, Chemist and Druggist, Portland
Third edition cold weather again. Having recently suffered from a severe attack of the prevailing epidemic, La Grippe, which brought me down almost to typhoid fever, I think it my duty, of my own free will, to bear testimony to the efficacy of your OREGON BLOOD PURIFIER and COUGH MEDICINE, for I certainly owe my recovery to them. I had long known the virtues of your Oregon Blood Purifier by practical experience, and in this case of the Influenza I found it equally efficacious. No medicine will cure all diseases, but for putting the human system in a healthy condition I know none so good as your Blood Purifier. In several cases of the epidemic I recommended both these compounds to several friends and they all received the same benefit from them as myself and quite as instantaneously. In hopes that many more may be similarly benefited, I gladly and gratefully give you this certificate. Yours very truly,

LIFE'S HISTORY;

Its Smiles and Tears. Such is the course of life, made up of sunshine and gloom, gladness and sorrow, riches and poverty, health and disease. We may dispel the gloom, banish the sorrow and gain riches; but sickness will overtake us, sooner or later. Yet, happily, that enemy can be vanquished; pains and aches can be relieved; there is a balm for every wound, and science has placed it within the reach of all. There is no discovery that has proven so great a blessing as Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills. In malarial regions, where Fever and Ague, Bilious Diseases and ailments incident to a deranged liver prevail, they have proven an inestimable boon, as a hundred thousand living witnesses testify.

RARE FUN IN OLYMPIA.

No Wonder the Legislators Don't Want to Go Home.

MERRY FELLOWS AT THE THEATER

The Joint Committee Thinks Business Can Be Finished March 28.

TIDE LANDS STRUGGLE ON AGAIN

Spokane and Pierce Judges Appointed—The House Has a Grievance Against the Senate—The Harbor Commission.

OLYMPIA, March 5.—[Special Telegram.]—About thirty members of the legislature attended the performance of the Caroline Gage company at Columbia hall last night and made a holy show of themselves. They acted like a lot of schoolboys, and threw paper balls, rubber overshoes and orange peelings at each other, and hooted and guyed the players. Senator Gilford, of King, threw a big orange across the auditorium and hit president pro tem Parkinson in the pit of the stomach and knocked the wind out of him. The missile passed close to a woman's head in its flight. In one of the acts there is a kissing scene, and during its continuance they made a kissing noise.

The boyish conduct of the legislators disgusted the rest of the audience and greatly annoyed the actors. Mayor Gowey is reported to be greatly incensed. The players gave the members frequent hits. One said rather sharply: "Gentlemen this is no way to act in a public theater." Many ladies left the theater during the trouble.

One of the officers of the company asked a spectator: "Who are those jays who are throwing spitballs." He was told that they were members of the legislature.

Contrary to general belief and much to the surprise of the candidates themselves, Governor Ferry announced to-day that he had appointed Fremont Campbell, of Pierce, and J. M. Kinnard, of Spokane, the additional superior judges in these counties. Only by the most urgent pressure from friends of both candidates, did Governor Ferry consent to sign their commissions. Up to a very late hour this morning L. D. Campbell was still in the lead in Pierce, and it has since been learned that the governor had half committed himself to appoint him, but the arrival of the prosecuting attorney of Pierce on the morning boat, followed by a retinue of influential friends, changed the governor's mind at the last moment, and at 1:15 the chairman of the Pierce county republican committee had his commission in his pocket. This will make the office of prosecuting attorney vacant in Pierce county, and S. C. Milligan has already announced his intention to shy his castor in the ring for office. He has already gathered many signatures to his petition. The appointment of Kinnard was a surprise. It was thought that the plum lay between Turner and Buck, with chances in favor of Turner. There are two factions in the republican ranks in Spokane Falls, growing out of the senatorial fight. Turner was backed by the faction led by Judge Turner, his brother, and Buck by the Hyde faction. It is thought the governor appointed Kinnard so as not to throw fuel upon the political fire. Strenuous objection was made to Buck on the ground that he has lived less than a year in the state. His candidacy was pressed by United States District Attorney Winston. In an interview Saturday night Colonel Winston said he would appoint Judge Buck as his deputy in case Governor Ferry did not give him the judgeship. "I will see the governor and ask him to appoint Judge Buck. If he refuses it will be war to the knife between Governor Ferry and me."

The tide land bill will come up in the house on a special order at 2 P. M. to-morrow. It is the general opinion to-night that the joint committee bill will come to a vote and will be passed, with an amendment giving owners of substantial improvements the right of purchase without their being the grantees of upland owners. There has been no break in the lines of upland owners and improvers. They claim thirty-nine votes three more than enough to pass the bill. It is expected that the vote will be very close. At the only test vote had, when the bill was up before, the upland owners and improvers had only twenty-eight. They claim to have made large gains within the last week. Representatives of the improvement owners made a proposition to-day to curtail the rights of abutting owners by giving them pre-emptive right of purchase for 1000 feet, the remainder of the tide land between that point and deep water to be sold at public auction. The upland owners maintained that if they had a pre-emptive right for 1000 feet they had a right to deep water, and refused to compromise. A similar proposition was made by Allen when the bill was before the house a few weeks ago. Allen suggested 500 feet, and the house rejected the amendment. Since then the figures have grown to 660 feet, and lastly to 1000 feet, and now there is talk of 2000 feet. The city is full of tide land men to-night.

The senate committee on harbor lines to-day introduced a bill to create a harbor line commission to define harbor lines in accordance with article 15 of the constitution. There are to be four commissioners. The lieutenant governor is to be an ex officio member and chairman of the board. The commission must file plats in the secretary of state's office. The committee also introduced a bill to establish public ways across tide lands in front of or within one mile on either side of any incorporated town. These ways shall not be less than fifty nor more than 600 feet wide and shall commence at the outer edge of the harbor, in not less than twenty feet of water. They are to be so located as to include all navigable streams running through the tide flats. No ways are to be established where there is not a sufficient depth of water, nor where the depth cannot be obtained by dredging.

The house this morning by a vote of yeas 11, nays 50, refused to adopt the report of the conference committee recommending that it recede from its amendment to Senator Kinnear's soldiers home bill, striking out the provision requiring two of the trustees to be National Guardsmen. Brown of Spokane, Tucker and Ostrander, all old soldiers, were opposed to receding. Judson of Pierce said the house conference committee invariably got the worst of the bargain and the senate was always getting away with the house. He charged that the provision which the house struck out was a guise to enable the militiamen to sponge upon the old soldiers by getting a camping ground and money to pay their expenses. Geoghegan was in favor of receding.

The dove that was sent out to find land has returned with an olive branch, and the end is near. The joint committee appointed to investigate pending business and suggest a date of adjournment met to-night and agreed, by a vote of 7 to 5, upon March 28 as the day of dissolution. March 20 was first suggested, but the motion was withdrawn. Then Van Houten moved that March 15 be named as the time after which no new business should be introduced. It was voted down—ayes 5, noes 7. At Geoghegan's suggestion the members agreed among themselves to work to bring about adjournment on the date named.

Whalley's bill preventing the mixing of sawlogs in fresh water streams was knocked higher than Gilderoy's kite to-day in the senate by Payne's amendment that it did not affect the tributaries of tide-water streams. The bunch-grass senator completely lost his wind by the suggestion, and the bill was shelved by its failure to receive a constitutional majority.

Eddy arose to a question of privilege in the house this morning and denounced the telegrams in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and Tacoma Ledger in reference to a fire escape bill of which he was said to be the author, as incorrect, and added that the statement reflected upon his committee.

The house corporation committee held a meeting this evening and decided to report favorably Luce's bill to permit consolidation of mining companies. The committee will also report favorably Austin's bill allowing foreign corporations to own land in the state.

More senators were in their seats this afternoon when the senate was called to order than there have been since the holiday vacation. Members of the upper chamber evidently think it is time to show up more and to be absent only when necessity actually demands it.

The house tide lands committee has reported favorably on the bill giving the United States government title to the tide lands in front of its military reservations. Without this bill the government cannot build improvements in front of its reservations.

Candidates for the office of harbor line commissioner are already becoming numerous. Those most prominently mentioned for the office are Hon. A. M. Cannon, of Spokane Falls; ex-Governor Miles C. Moore, of Walla Walla; Hon. L. B. Conover, of Port Townsend, and ex-Governor Black, of Whatcom. All of these gentlemen have signified their willingness to serve the state as a member of the commission with the exception of Mr. Cannon, but his friends here all allege the eminent financier of Spokane would not be adverse to being elected as a member of the commission.

The house to-day passed the insurance bill reported by its insurance committee. The provision requiring companies to have $100,000 subscribed capital, 25 per cent of which must be paid up, was amended so that $50,000 must be paid up.

Pickrell introduced a bill in the house this morning providing for jury trials in justice courts. It was referred to the judiciary committee.

O. C. White's appointment as public printer was confirmed in the senate to-day. The senate held an executive session with open doors.

Senate Proceedings.

Landes, Long and Luce were appointed on the part of the senate to see what clerks can be dispensed with.

Payne, Houghton and Gilfoyle were appointed on behalf of the senate to consider the house amendments to Payne's commissioners' bill.

NEW BILLS.

By the committee on harbor lines—Defining public water ways.

By the same—Creating a board of harbor line commissioners.

By the committee on medicine—Regulating the practice of medicine in the state, etc.

By Clough—Relating to costs in superior courts.

By Thompson of Pierce—Changing the name of Slaughter, in King county to Valley City.

By the committee on municipal corporations—A substitute bill allowing cities of over 20,000 population to issue bonds, etc.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

By Hughes—Relative to land office receipts; passed.

By Long—For the relief of certain notaries; passed.

By Nims—Preventing discriminating by tug boats; killed.

By Thompson—Changing the name of Slaughter, in King county; passed.

House Proceedings.

In the house the following bills were read the third time:

By Evans—Governing the institution of civil acts in superior courts; passed.

By the committee on mileage and salaries—For compensation of county officers.

By the special committee—Constituting the secretary of state, state auditor and public land commissioner a state land commission; passed.

By Evans—To exempt insurance money of the value of the exempt property destroyed; passed.

By Plummer—Requiring county and city treasurers to make quarterly reports; passed.

By Evans—Enabling Puyallup Indians to alien lands; ordered engrossed.

By the joint committee on roads and highways—Prohibiting obstructions of highways; passed.

THE LOTTERY LEGISLATURE.

Angry With the Sarcastic Attorney-General—Honest Senators Reprimanded.

BISMARCK, N. D., March 5.—The state senate had a red-hot time to-day. A communication was read from Attorney-General Goodwin, replying to the request of the senate as to the proper mode of procedure to compel the attendance of witnesses before investigating committees. The attorney-general stated that there were a great many ways of compelling witnesses to testify, and called attention to the fact that in the dark ages the rack and other instruments of torture were resorted to. The senate considered the communication and several senators made speeches severely scoring the attorney general. His communication was then expunged from the records.

The bill mentioned in these dispatches compelling newspapers to have an agent in the state upon whom service in action at law could be had came up again. Senators Barlow and Dodds, who made the minority report eulogizing the newspapers of the country for their work in the lottery bill and severely scoring that measure, were raked right and left by the other senators. Resolutions censuring Barlow and Dodds, and denouncing them as unworthy of the respect of the senate, and removing Dodds from the office of president pro tem were adopted—5 to 2.

LITTLE ABE LINCOLN DEAD.

No Pain at the End—The Queen Sends a Message of Sympathy.

LONDON, March 5.—Master Abraham Lincoln, son of Robert Lincoln, United States minister, who has been suffering from poisoning arising from a malignant carbuncle on the left side below the armpit, died at 11 o'clock this morning. During the morning the lad was in a comatose condition, and unable to retain nourishment, but suffered no pain. The Lincoln family was at the bedside from early morning until he died. He passed away quietly. The body will be embalmed and sent home for interment.

The queen sent a message of sympathy to Mr. Lincoln.

The funeral services will be held Friday next. Only intimate friends of the family and officials of the United States legation will be invited. The body will be deposited temporarily in the catacombs at Kensal Green, whence it will be transferred to the family tomb in Springfield, Ill.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The president has sent a message of condolence to Minister Lincoln.

The death of Abraham Lincoln, the 15-year-old son of Robert T. Lincoln, American minister to England, is particularly sad, as he was his father's only son, and, with the exception of Minister Lincoln, the only male descendant of the martyred president, his grandfather. Minister Lincoln married in 1869 Miss Mary Harlan, daughter of ex-Senator Harlan, of Iowa, whom President Lincoln appointed his secretary of the interior, although he did not take office until President Johnson's administration. The fruits of this union are three children: A handsome girl, the eldest child, now budding into womanhood; Abraham, the dead boy, and a second daughter, still younger.

Young Abraham was born in Chicago, where his father was practicing law. He was a sturdy little fellow, modest like his famous grandfather and father. When his father became President Garfield's secretary of war, little Abraham, then a lad of 9 years, was considered one of the picturesque features of life at the capital, for on all fair days he could be seen darting about the smooth streets of the city on a bicycle, which he rode with much skill, in company with the young sons of President Garfield and Attorney-General MacVeagh.

Soon after Minister Lincoln removed to London young Abraham's health became impaired, and he was sent to the South of France in the hope that he would be benefited by the climate. The treatment of the French physicians, however, proved disastrous to the little invalid, and his condition became much worse. He was taken to Versailles, where an operation was performed for an abscess. Then he rallied, and was removed to his father's home in London. Becoming worse, however, another operation was performed about the 20th of February, for the removal of the abscess, which had formed again, and it was hoped that the lad then had a fair chance of recovery. Since that time, however, he has been a constant sufferer, lying at death's door until it opened and he entered.

THE PARNELL DEBATE.

Why the Books Were Not Produced—Pigott and Somerset.

LONDON, March 5.—Debate on the amendment to Smith's motion relative to the adoption by the commons of the Parnell commission's report moved by Gladstone was resumed. MacNeill, home ruler, said he believed the appointment of the commission was merely an attempt by the government to stir up hatred against the Parnellites. He charged the government with allowing Piggott to escape, as it had allowed Lord Arthur Somerset to escape, for political purposes.

Sir Charles Lewis, conservative, admitted that the report proved very little that was not known before, but said it proved what was before disputed. He accused Campbell, Parnell's private secretary, of removing the books of the league.

A lively passage here ensued. Campbell declared that he last saw the books in Liverpool, and as far as he knew the same books had been produced before the commission. Lewis contended that every charge that had been disproved would have been proved if all the books had been produced.

Sexton said he wished to explain, on behalf of Parnell, why they refused to place at the disposal of their opponents a statement of the finances of the party.

Lewis asked if there was a legitimate explanation which had been overlooked in the report. If the books had been produced they would have shown before all the other evidence whether respondents were honest men or criminals.

Bryce, liberal, adjourned the debate. He argued that the limited views of the commissioners reduced the value of their conclusions to a very low point.

THE FIRST GUN FIRED

Republicans Inaugurate the Oregon Campaign of 1890.

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEETS

The State Convention Set for Wednesday, April 16, at Portland.

VOTE FOR HERMANN THE BASIS

Salem and Pendleton Wanted the Convention—Several Candidates for State Treasurer—Ellis for Congress—Political Gossip.

The opening gun in the political campaign of 1890 for Oregon has been fired, by the assembling and the acts of yesterday's session of the republican state central committee. The attendance was gratifying, and the deliberations of the body throughout were marked by a manifest desire for the good of the party, and the success of republican principles. The only marked difference of opinion developed was in regard to the time for holding the state convention. The movement for the later date, April 16, is believed to have been chiefly sought for on account of the disinclination of county candidates to stand the strain, financial and otherwise, of a long campaign. This is particularly trying to candidates who have a hard fight on their hands. The situation is about as broad as long, however, as a short campaign gives them little chance to overcome prejudices against them.

Chairman Louis T. Barin expresses himself as much pleased with the feeling manifested by the republicans present, and feels justified in confidently predicting an old-time rousing republican majority at the June election.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

The committee was called to order by Chairman Louis T. Barin, at the parlors of the St. Charles hotel, shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon. Secretary J. T. Gregg and Assistant Secretary Miller were in their places. The roll of members was called, and proxies admitted, leaving the roll as follows:

On motion of W. R. Ellis, it was voted that the committees on call and on apportionment be composed of seven members, one from each judicial district, to be appointed by the chair.

The committees were then appointed, and were as follows:

COMMITTEE ON CALL.

First district—D. P. Thompson.
Second district—J. C. Fullerton.
Third district—G. H. Burnett.
Fourth district—M. C. George.
Fifth district—T. H. Tongue.
Sixth district—J. P. Faull.
Seventh district—W. R. Ellis, chairman.

COMMITTEE ON APPORTIONMENT.

First district—H. B. Miller.
Second district—C. E. Moore.
Third district—J. W. Cusick.
Fourth district—M. C. George.
Fifth district—James Muckle.
Sixth district—Lee Moorehouse, chairman.
Seventh district—Charles Hilton.

On motion of G. H. Burnett, the committee adjourned until 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The committee was again called to order by its chairman at 2:10.

W. R. Ellis, chairman of the call committee, reported. The call was as printed below, except that blanks were left to be subsequently filled out in accordance with the decisions of the committee. The report mentioned the 16th of April as the date for holding the convention. Mr Ellis stated that three of the committee favored April 9, four (including himself) the 16th.

VIEWS OF THE MINORITY.

D. P. Thompson secured the floor and moved to amend the report by substituting April 9 for April 16, and having the primaries and county conventions a week earlier correspondingly. "Oregon is now settled up pretty well," said he, "in the outlying districts. A canvass, to be any way thorough, will require all the time we can possibly give it. Election falls on June 2 this year instead of the 6th, as in 1888. The 16th of April will only give us six weeks in which to have a canvass made, and it is too short. I am in favor of April 9 as the date for the state convention."

W. R. Ellis favored holding it at the later date. This was to the interest of the Eastern counties which would have to hold two conventions if April was selected. A journey of eighty miles to the scene of the county convention and the same distance home again is a serious matter for republican county delegates.

T. H. Tongue said he recognized the difficulty of which Mr. Ellis spoke, but thought the republicans of Eastern Oregon were ready to fall in line with any move for the advantage of the party throughout the state. He dwelt at some length on the urgent need for a speedy convention, on account of the spirited work for democratic doctrines already being done by the so called reform party.

George H. Burnett favored an early date. He wanted his party to have the first knockout in the fight.

Before voting on the date the credentials of C. W. Talmage were received as proxy from Yamhill vice E. B. Fellows, and Mr. Thompson was authorized to act as proxy for O. H. Crook, of Curry. A viva voce vote on Thompson's motion for a substitute was undecisive. A rising vote resulted ayes 10, noes 11; so the substitute was lost.

G. H. Burnett moved to insert Salem as the place of meeting.

M. C. George moved to substitute Portland.

Mr. Burnett said: "Portland has had the state convention for the last ten years, and it strikes me it is time to pass the thing around a little. There is more or less jealousy against Portland throughout the state. People say she wants to 'hog up' everything, and there seems to be considerable truth in it. We take care of a good many meetings at Salem, and I guess we could accommodate the convention. We look after the legislature, the state fair and other institutions—"

Thompson—The insane asylum.

Burnett—Yes, sir; we have accommodations for all of you. [Laughter.]

W. J. Snodgrass moved to insert Pendleton, and supported his motion with a very clever plea for going to the doubtful ground.

The motion came up on Snodgrass's amendment, and was lost by a vote of four to everybody else.

T. H. Tongue was afraid it was not good politics to go to Portland. The party would have to shoulder the defense of the charge that the moneyed men of Portland were running the party, and in view of the widespread distrust of capital's influence on politics, he thought it best to meet somewhere else.

The vote was then put, resulting, for Portland 14, against 9.

THE COMPLETED CALL.

The time and place being settled, the blanks in the report of the call committee were filled, it reading as follows:

CALL FOR A REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A republican convention for the state of Oregon is called to meet at the city of Portland, Or., on Wednesday, the 16th day of April, 1890, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices, to wit: Representative in congress, governor, supreme judge, secretary of state, state treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, state printer and district officers, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. The convention will consist of 218 delegates, apportioned among the several counties as follows. The same being one delegate at large from each county and one delegate for every 175 votes for congressman at the June election of 1888.

The committee recommend that the primaries be held on Saturday, April 5, 1890, and the county conventions on April 9, 1890, unless otherwise ordered by the proper county central committee.

All voters who favor the republican policy of American markets for the products of American labor, liberal support of our common schools, and the protection of every voter in the nation in his right to cast a free ballot and have it fairly counted are cordially invited to unite in the selection of delegates to this convention.

W R ELLIS Chairman.

Secretary Gregg read the report of the

APPORTIONMENT COMMITTEE

PORTLAND March 5 1890

L T Barin, Chairman State Central Committee—Sir We your committee on apportionment beg leave to report as follows, viz That the representation of the coming republican state convention shall consist of one delegate at large from each county and one for every 175 votes or fraction over one half of 175 votes of the votes cast for the republican candidate for congress of the June election of 1888, which will make the representation for each county of the state as per list herewith

Baker	6	Harney	4	Polk	6
Benton	8	Jackson	[illegible]	Tillamook	10
Clackamas	9	Josephine	4	Umatilla	10

Douglas	6	Marion	12	Yamhill	8
Gilliam	[illegible]	Morrow	4
Grant	5	Multnomah	35	Total	218

Respectfully submitted,

LEE MOOREHOUSE, Chairman

Snodgrass moved to substitute the presidential vote for that on congressmen He thought it would be an excellent incentive to bring out the full vote at a presidential election, if that vote was used as the basis of apportionment. A general discussion followed, during which it was developed that about the only result of the change would be to increase the representation of the most populous counties which already have overshadowing strength. Upon vote there were only three or four yeas for the amendment. The report was then adopted as originally adopted and on motion of Thompson the meeting adjourned

AMONG THE DELEGATES.

Several Candidates Already Coming to the Front.

J. P Faull had purposed making an effort to secure favorable consideration of Baker City as the place for holding the state convention. After sounding a few delegates, however, and seeing Pendleton's ignominious defeat, he wisely concluded to not present his town at all.

The only two congressional candidates that have yet appeared to contest that place with Binger Hermann are H B Miller, of Grant's Pass, and W R Ellis, of Heppner Mr Ellis, when asked if there was any fight being made on Hermann, said he was not making any fight on any body but merely working for himself He says that Eastern Oregon has never had but one representative sitting in either house of congress and thinks it should have a show He hopes to secure the support of his section for the nomination.

The fight for state offices promises to be, singularly enough, for those places only which are now held by democrats It seems to be taken for granted that Secretary of State McBride, Superintendent of Schools E B McElroy and State Printer Frank C Baker the present incumbents, will be returned. A multitude of candidates are springing up, however for state treasurer and a few less for governor Thompson and DeLashmutt were both seen in consultation with the committee men, but had nothing to say about the bearing of their conferences upon their gubernatorial aspirations From Eastern Oregon S W Blaisdell and ex Governor Z F Moody are being put forward Beekman of Southern Oregon, is also understood to be a candidate Eastern Oregon's chances for the governorship seem to be imperiled, however, by Phil Metchan's strong following for the treasurership Metchan could have had the nomination for treasurer two years ago but would not take it as he had made his fight for secretary of state There is a wide spread feeling among republicans that Metchan would have succeeded in being elected treasurer had he been opposed to Webb This naturally gives him a certain prestige in his present candidacy If he hopes however, for a unanimous support from his section he will have to distance a good many competitors Snodgrass is after the treasurership and has many friends Other Eastern candidates are W T Wright J E Bean and Ed H Mix Another treasury aspirant is J W Cusick, of Linn county who is said by his friends able to overcome the democratic majority of 200 to 300 there He will probably come to the convention with considerable of a following

Mr O J Richardson, of Buena Vista, held a proxy He says Polk's republicans have no candidate for state officers so far but expect to be triumphant if a good ticket is nominated They are for McElroy McBride Baker, for re-election and for Judge Warren Truitt, of The Dalles, now in the landoffice at Lakeview for supreme court

J W Norville of Union, says the county seat fight there between La Grande and Union promises to overtop in interest among the voters the general features of the election There will be about 1500 dagoes working on the railroad lines who will be a source of considerable enterprise among the politicians.

HE WAKED UP PETER THE GREAT.

Jack Fallon Terribly Beaten for Trying to Knock Out the Black Champion.

NEW YORK, March 5—A benefit was given Jack Fallon at Williamsburg last night He was to spar Peter Jackson, the Australian, and Jack Ashton He told his friends that he intended to knock them out. He met Ashton first and when Ashton discovered his tactics there was a lively set to for blood till the police interfered

When Jackson and Fallon met there was more fun. Jackson started in with light sparring while Fallon began making vicious lunges. He finally got in one or two whacks that nettled the Australian and Jackson shot out his right landing on the neck with such force as to make Fallon reel. In the second Jackson jumped at Fallon, raining blow after blow when and where he pleased. The Brooklyn boy was hopelessly defeated, and only for the interference of the police, he would undoubtedly have been knocked into a cocked hat.

JACKSON MEETS HIS MATCH.

A Troy Heavyweight Wrestler Who Refused to Be Knocked Out.

TROY, March 5—The Peter Jackson combination, in charge of Parson Davies, appeared here to-night before an immense audience Davies said it was the intention at first to have Jackson spar four rounds with Jack Ashton but many people had desired to see Jackson exhibit himself and he had offered Gus Lambert $100 if he would spar four rounds with Jackson. Lambert is a powerful man, weighing about 220 pounds. He is considerably shorter than Jackson, and very fat.

When time was called for the first round the excitement began and increased until the fight terminated when pandemonium reigned At the start Lambert seemed afraid of Jackson and fought shy of him

About the first thing Lambert did was to strike at Jackson and then grab him around the waist The referee had hard work to separate them Before the second round was over everybody was yelling like mad.

Lambert followed the methods adopted in the first round and hugged Jackson The excitement knew no bounds

In the third round, when Jackson saw Lambert persisted in hugging him, he attempted to fight him but Lambert would not have it. He picked Jackson up and ran across the platform with him and would have thrown him over the ropes, had it not been for Ashton who caught him

Some hard fighting was done in the corner, and when the men reached the center of the ring again they were both blowing hard

Lambert struck Jackson a blow that staggered him, and the crowd yelled. Jackson seemed winded.

In the fourth round Jackson fought for life but Lambert was there all the time and when time was called he was in as good shape as the Australian, and the cheering crowd carried him around on their shoulders Jackson refused to shake hands with Lambert He offered to fight Jackson to a finish and to-night George Dixon the Boston bantam weight was authorized by Jackson to challenge Lambert to a finish fight for from $500 to $1000 Jackson was terribly discomfited

NEWS OF TWO STATES.

Murdered Mrs. Scott Testifies Against Her Husband.

FATAL COLLISION AT SPRAGUE

Spokane Falls Will Get the Kootenai Trade—The Second Cavalry Regiment, at Walla Walla, Ordered to Arizona

McMINNVILLE March 5—[Special Telegram.]—The defense in the Scott murder case began presenting testimony at 10 30 o'clock to-day

Frank A Cook son of deceased, was the first witness called by the defense. He testified as follows "I reside in Portland, and am a commercial traveler for D M Osborne & Co I was at Pasco when my mother was murdered I have received letters written by deceased to Mrs Ella Cook since the murder Witness produced three letters which were handed to the attorney for the defense, also a letter written to witness dated October 26, 1889 together with a marriage notice

One letter to her daughter in law, dated November 25, 1889, contains the following paragraph

"Ella, I certainly am as contented as is good for one to be in this life, and Mr Scott is perfectly happy We certainly enjoy ourselves for old folks Hope to see you all soon Mr Scott joins in sending love and kisses Come when you can Your affectionate mother LILLIAN SCOTT"

The letter dated on Christmas day is merely an affectionate letter to Lila and children and contains no reference to her husband The one dated February 8, 1890 speaks of a recent trip with her husband to McMinnville and says

"We went to McMinnville last Friday week to pay our taxes * * * We stayed over night at my old home. Oh it is so home like to be in McMinnville and the electric light looks quite city fied. * * * I have not heard from Frank since the 10th of December last and Johnny since the 1st of January He then wrote he would not be here before spring I am getting tired monkeying with him It looks to me he could come before this if he wanted to Well, I made them a good offer, and it's their fault if they miss it If we can sell the farm we will move back to McMinnville. Can not tell you what we will do Mr Scott is not able to run the farm without hiring help, and then it takes all that is made to pay expenses"

The marriage occurred October 17, 1889, at the home of the deceased in McMinnville

In the letter dated October 26, 1889, to her son Frank containing the marriage notice She says

My Dear Son Your very kind and welcome letter to me and Mr Scott was received on Sunday before we were married. Son you certainly did your best, for I never read a nicer worded letter, and I am so glad you did I showed the letter to Mr Scott the evening after we were married, he said he would certainly so do and act toward your mother that when you come to visit us you would be pleased to call him father and son I do feel that my marriage is a success and not a failure I know if I do my duty toward Mr Scott he will do his toward me and by the help of God I mean to do it"

Then follows a description of the wedding and other affectionate and motherly sentiments covering four or five pages of note paper

Mrs Ellen Cook daughter in law of deceased testified I live at Amity, received letters from deceased, the children also received letters sent all I had kept, to my husband I wrote letters in reply Letters were also received from the deceased that have been destroyed. She always spoke well of Mr. Scott and she seemed pleased with her home"

These letters are all of the testimony offered by the defense before noon, and are intended to show the entire harmony and good will existing between the prisoner and deceased and to refute that written by deceased in her memorandum book that was given to the coroner's jury and is as follows

"December 27 1889

This is my first Christmas on the Scott farm and if I live I hope that it will be the last for me Of all the dull and lonely days certainly never passed over my head. I thought I had a good, kind husband, but I have found out, after being married two months I was wanted for a slave, not a companion or wife only so far as his lust is concerned. Then I can be made useful for his pleasure. I will, God help me, do my duty but Oh God! I fear I shall be made to hate my husband"

On the second page the words "continued from other page" are written at the top, and then follows

"Oh that I was back at my old home at McMinnville, where I was so happy But alas for happiness for me Merciful Father hear my cry My heart aches, and oh why should I have to suffer so My life I do hope and pray will be short, but oh God I do pray for the man that tortures me "One that should be so kind and good

At the afternoon session, long before the hour set for calling to order the courtroom was filled with the largest audience that has been in attendance since the trial began, but as soon as court was called everyone was greatly disappointed by the abrupt termination of further proceedings The counsel for the defense concluded to offer no further testimony and the case was submitted without argument, and Justice Harding held the prisoner to answer before the grand jury without bonds

RESTORED TO HER MOTHER

A Stolen Child's Identity Established After a Lapse of Eight Years

SPOKANE FALLS March 5—[Special Telegram.]—Eight years ago a little girl was kidnaped from her parents either in Montana or Nevada She has always retained a shadowy remembrance of her parents and the old home and her heart has never ceased longing for a mother's love Her abductor was a man named Davis, but his motive remains a mystery On the 17th of February Cora Davis—for that is the name she now bears—was brought here by a man named Northcott and placed in All Saints boarding school an institution under the control of the Episcopal church Recently she gained a clue to the whereabouts of her mother and learned that she was living at North Yakima with her second husband, a gentleman named Griffin. Cora wrote to Mrs Griffin and in her letter recited incidents of her early childhood Mr Griffin came here a few days ago and established the identity of the lost child beyond a shadow of doubt. To protect the school against the man Davis a writ of habeas corpus was sworn out to-day in the superior court, and Cora was taken before Judge Blake It there appearing that Mrs Griffin was her mother, and she desiring to be reunited the judge so ordered and to-morrow morning a train will bear the long lost child to the arms of her parent

She is a handsome girl, just budding into womanhood, of modest demeanor and beloved by her associates at All Saints school

PUSHING TO THE FRONT.

Some Strong Claims for the Young City of Anacortes

The press throughout the Sound are at last beginning to realize the fact that Anacortes is more than a village and destined to come to the front with rapid strides The interest taken by leading public men of the state of Washington, in Anacortes men whose opinions are conceded to be of some value, is shown by the opinion expressed by Governor Semple in reference to business on the Sound in which he says "The influx of immigration at the present time especially for the season of the year, is somewhat remarkable and in every direction much enthusiasm is being manifested in the rapid strides that will be made this year In Tacoma and Seattle business men are pushing out as never before which also applies to all the smaller and new Sound towns. The greatest field of activity however, at the present time, is at Anacortes. I was there a few days ago and was simply astonished at the great development of the past few weeks Like everybody else, I have always had abundant faith that a great and permanent city would spring up on the lower Sound and I believe Anacortes is the place. She has all the advantages of the greatest seaports of the country and in a very few years must rank as one of the most important cities in the state

Anacortes is more than 100 miles from Tacoma, and cannot be considered as a rival to either that city or Seattle but is in my opinion, in a situation to command the trade of the lower Sound. It lies in such a position that the iron coal, marble timber and other products of the mountains, besides the agricultural wealth of the great Skagit valley will gravitate to her wharves. The Skagit valley, and the Samish and Swinomish flats that lie about the mouth of that river constitute the richest body of agricultural land in the state, and the river affords a low pass through the mountains by which the rich mining counties of Stevens and Okanogan and the Lake Chelan and Big Bend section can be brought to tidewater, with a shorter railroad haul than by any other route All this mineral and agricultural wealth must inevitably be tributary to Anacortes, because it will naturally gravitate to her wharves and ships when loaded there can easily beat out to sea

Excursion boats arrive from Port Townsend every Sunday and bring a large number of visitors from the Key City to the King City and all seem amazed at the marvelous growth of Anacortes in so short a time Not the slightest let up is visible anywhere. Buildings are going up and improvements of a solid nature are being made and contracted for in all directions and to commence particularizing each and every improvement in Anacortes, day by day, would be an Herculean task

The list of newcomers from different parts of the states is very much on the increase and I will endeavor to forward regularly a weekly list of arrivals

On dit that important revelations are likely soon to be made in reference to coal fields adjacent to Anacortes If so, full particulars will be forwarded you without delay J E S.

Transcontinental Lines Likely to Be Involved—Rates Will Last Some Time

SAN FRANCISCO March 5—[Special Telegram.]—The telegram from the East this morning announcing that the Missouri Pacific road proposed to cut rates between Kansas City and Pueblo from $18 50 to $10 gave local freight and passenger agents no little concern Should such be the fact it will probably involve the transcontinental lines in the fight and may result in the latter being brought into the rate cutting war between themselves This is the opinion entertained by many of the representatives of the Eastern roads, who agree that should the transcontinental roads continue to cut rates it would not be long before people would be traveling at the old $10 rate from here to Chicago

There was no change in the local aspect this morning No further cut has been made, and according to the interstate commerce law another reduction cannot be made for three days that time being required to give formal notice of such a move The same law fixes the time in which notice of a raise in rates must be made at ten days so that no change can be made toward bringing rates up to the former figure until next week

CHICAGO March 5—Yesterday's cut by the Missouri Pacific of passenger rates from the Missouri river to Colorado will be promptly met by Chicago lines bringing the Denver rate from Chicago down to $18 and $15 first and second class

ANOTHER LANDSLIDE NEAR DELTA.

Tunnel 9 Will Again Be Closed for Perhaps a Week

SAN FRANCISCO March 5—It is reported here that another serious landslide has occurred on the Oregon line at tunnel 9 this side of Sisson, and the train due here this morning at 7 45 o'clock with mail from as far north as Ashland was cut off Mails have been coming regularly from Ashland for several weeks but the present landslide it is thought, will put a stop to the service for perhaps a week.

NEVADA, Cal, March 5—A large mass of rock and earth from the mountain to-day slid down on the Edwards grade, between here and North Bloomfield, effectually blockading all travel in that direction It will take two or three days to re-open the road

CALIFORNIA NEWS ITEMS.

The San Francisco Molders' Strike

SAN FRANCISCO March 5—[Special Telegram.]—The usual noise was heard to-day at the foundries that are working without molders and the latter still congregate in small groups offering suggestions to one another, and trying to solve the problem of which side will give up Unless non union men can be persuaded to leave the Risdon Iron Works, that shop is likely to be practically independent. Ira P Rankin stated this morning that there was no great change unless it was a renewal of the strong sentiment existing among the members of the association to stand solid and make the fight of one foundry the fight of all. A visit to the foundry of Messrs. Steiger & Kerr, resulted in finding out that according to the demands of the union their apprentice boys had gone out and did not intend to return At the Fulton works the same state of affairs existed Mr Hayes one of the proprietors says he desired to run his shop in conjunction with other proprietors and to do so it was necessary to show the union that they could not rule or ruin "The fight" said he "is principally upon limitation of work but the union denies any such statement That may be well enough to deny, but we know that if they do win, which is very doubtful it will be a strong point in their favor and they will not hesitate to put it into execution. We want to run our own business and will remain on the side of the association At the Risdon Iron Works it was stated that eight non union molders had been secured and were performing the necessary labor in the molding department

The Sisson Estate

SAN FRANCISCO March 5—Miles Burke and Joseph Sisson executors of the estate of A W Sisson filed their first annual account to-day It contains a statement of the property they have received Among other things they received 7 5 shares of the Sisson Crocker Company valued at $[illegible] the accrued dividends of which amounted to $78 000. The total value of deceased's interest in the company was $100 7[illegible] The executors also received 271 shares of the North Pacific Trading and Packing Company upon which they have received $5400 in dividends The total amount of cash received from all sources was $116 5[illegible] They had paid the expenses of administration and also debts amounting to $[illegible] leaving a balance of $[illegible] The residence of the deceased which was appraised at $40 000 was sold for $42 500 A portion of the furniture valued at $8180 was sold The executors also received the promissory note of John Cotton for $[illegible] and [illegible] shares of the capital stock of the Oregon Stock and Butcher Company valued $[illegible] The total value of the estate is over 1 000 000

The Trial of Mrs Terry

SAN FRANCISCO March —The trial of Mrs David S Terry for obstructing a United States marshal in the performance of his duty was resumed in the United States district court this morning Joseph D Redding was examined as to the trouble which happened in the circuit court September 3 1888. He said he was present in the courtroom that day and was listening to the reading by Justice Field of the opinion in the Terry cases He heard Mrs Terry interrupt the proceeding by jumping up and making an exclamation demanding to know if she was to be compelled to give up her marriage certificate The marshal was ordered to put her out of the court after which she had refused to resume her seat The marshal proceeded to obey, but he was resisted by Mrs Terry in a very angry and threatening manner

C S Simpson a juror in the case came into the United States district courtroom this afternoon at the conclusion of the noon recess in a state of intoxication and Judge Ross accordingly adjourned the trial till to-morrow morning

Funeral of Colonel Donahue

SAN FRANCISCO March 5—[Special Telegram.]—To-morrow morning the funeral of the late Colonel James Mervyn Donahue will take place from St Mary's Cathedral where solemn requiem mass will be said Besides being colonel in the Fifth infantry National Guards of California, deceased was grand trustee of the Native Sons of the Golden West and a member of the Young Men's Institute and both these organizations will send details to the funeral. Major General Dimond issued orders yesterday after eulogizing the character of deceased directing Brigadier General John T Cutting commanding the Second brigade, National Guards of California to issue the necessary instructions for proper military observance of the funeral General Cutting thereupon issued orders detailing the Third infantry regiment as a funeral escort

Death of an Ancient Indian.

SAN DIEGO, March 5—Juan Mario, an old Indian who for years had been a familiar object about the streets of San Diego, died at an Indian ranch in Switzer canyon last night. According to the best information Mario was born in Lower California in 1780 and was therefore 110 years of age He was an old man but still vigorous when General Fremont made his pathfinding expedition to this country and it is claimed he was one of the guides who accompanied the general on his famous trip across the plains. He lived with his wife, who is 102 years old, in a wigwam in Switzer Canyon

Prohibition Witnesses Spirited Away.

POMONA March 5—Cases against several prominent citizens of Pomona for alleged violation of the local prohibition ordinance, and which have caused much attention and discussion in this part of the state, have been suddenly dismissed because John Huntley and Joseph Nolan, two of the most important witnesses for the prosecution, are missing. Their bondsmen have been given six months to produce the men

THE WINDOM SILVER BILL.

House Coinage Committee Approves Its Provisions—Bland Wants Foreign Metal

WASHINGTON, March 5—Before the house committee on coinage to-day Walker, of Massachusetts said "I am satisfied that it is the desire of a large majority of the people of the United States that a further effort be made to bring the price of silver and gold together at the ratio of 1873. While personally I am willing to try and further the experiment By passing a treasury bill in obedience to the popular demand at a minimum risk to our monetary system the senate bill departs so widely from all experiences that under no circumstances could I vote for it. The difference between the bills is carefully stated as follows on comparison of the treasury and senate silver bills the secretary's bill proposes to receive so much of the silver product of the United States—that is the product of our own mines and of the ores reduced in this country—as may be offered at its market value, and issue notes against it. The silver product of the United States, including silver obtained from Mexican ores reduced in this country, aggregates about 51 000 000 fine ounces annually Deducting the amount used annually in arts, say 6 000,000 ounces, the amount offered would probably aggregate 45 000,000 ounces The quantity received and on which notes would be issued would amount to $45,000 000, all the product of American mines and smelters The government is simply a passive agent for such American silver as is offered and is not compelled to go abroad and join with foreign speculators in creating a fictitious price for silver"

The committee considered the first two sections of the Windom bill and rejected several amendments thereto

A motion of Bland to strike out the paragraph limiting treasury purchases to the domestic product was defeated by a vote of 9 to 3.

A motion by Knapp on the other hand, to strike out the words which permit the purchase of silver from Mexican ores, was defeated by 9 to 2.

Bland moved to strike out section 1 of the bill and insert the first section of the senate bill This was lost by a vote of 5 to 7

A proposition by Mutchler to limit the purchase under the bill to $4,500,000 per month was lost by a vote of five to nine.

An amendment proposed by Knapp providing that certificates of less denomination than $5 shall be issued, was lost

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.
DR PIERCE'S Medicines SOLD UNDER A POSITIVE GUARANTEE
RUG
Copyright, 1889.

THE FASTEST TIME ON RECORD,

in the direction of the nearest drug-store, is not too fast for a person to make who is troubled with any of the myriad forms of disease resulting from a torpid or deranged liver and its attendant impure blood, and is, therefore, in need of that world-famed and only guaranteed blood-purifier and liver invigorator known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Every form of Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Disease, Eczema, Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Tetter, scaly, crusty, itching, burning and tormenting forms of skin disease, are cured by this wonderful remedy as if by magic. Sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee of benefit or cure, or money refunded. All Scrofulous affections, as Fever-sores, White Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, Old Sores and Ulcers, yield to its wonderful curative properties. It promptly conquers Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It is a concentrated vegetable fluid extract. Dose small and pleasant to taste. Contains no alcohol, don't inebriate or manufacture topers; is free from syrup or sugar, and, therefore, don't sour or ferment in the stomach, interfering with digestion; as peculiar in its wonderful curative effects as in its composition. There is no other medicine at all like it, either in composition or effect. Therefore, don't be fooled into accepting something instead, said to be "just as good." If substitutes are "just as good," why don't their vendors guarantee them to do what they are recommended to, or refund money paid for them, as we do with all who buy "Golden Medical Discovery?" For the very good reason that such a plan of sale would bankrupt the manufacturers of any but an extraordinary remedy like the "Discovery." To purify the blood, invigorate the liver, promote digestion, and build up both flesh and strength, it is unequaled, whether for adults or children. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, No 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N Y.

HOPE FOR THE AGED.

A Prominent Man Shows How Elderly People can Prolong Their Lives and Avoid Weakness and Suffering.

Charles Dickens never wrote a truer thing than the following

"Can anything be more pitiable than the sight of elderly men or women who realize that the strength of earlier years is departing? Down the plane of life, whose end is in darkness, they look and wonder if their weary steps will carry them painlessly to the end"

Any elderly person who feels a trembling of the nerves, a weakening of the muscles, lessened vitality, decreased vigor chilled hands or feet, needs nay, must have, assistance. Money cannot render it. Drugs should be avoided. Here is what one of the greatest of modern physicians a no less personage than Dr. Gardner says on the subject:

"Elderly persons, who in winter suffer from cold feet and find artificial heat applied externally fail to afford relief may, with undoubted propriety and advantage, take whiskey and hot water on going to bed If a headache or foul tongue follow, the inference is the spirit was impure, probably containing fusel oil. A very light trace of this noxious ingredient in spirit, will in some constitutions, produce headache, as accurate a test of impurity as chemistry can employ"

There is only one absolutely pure whiskey free from fusel oil, and that is the well known and justly popular Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey It has all the properties that contribute to health and vigor, and none that injure. It cannot harm the stomach even of a child. It is sold universally and well merits its wonderful popularity Be sure and take no other

ELECTRIC FORCE.

The Great Fundamental Principle of the Universe and Its Power to Restore Health to Humanity.

Experiments by scientists are constantly and surely proving electricity to be the great motor power of creation Electricity is the most powerful chemical agent, as well as the basis of chemical action It is the primal element of light and heat, the promoter of life and the sustainer of health. Disease yields readily to its magnetic touch, and even unrelenting death is averted by its presence Thousands of afflicted and suffering bear witness to its healing power The electro magnetic as practiced by Drs Darrin, has revolutionized the practice of medicine, as is shown by the following

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 5.—In stocks to-day there was heavy trading in Reading and Sugar Refineries, but the general list was dull and stagnant. The bears are accused of manipulating rates for exchange and are said to have bought sterling heavily in order to prevent a decline to a point which would permit shipment of gold to this country at a profit. Reading was the feature of the day and was weak on a flood of short sales based upon the dullness of the anthracite coal trade. It rapidly sold down from 39¼ to 36¾, closing at the lowest price. Sugar to-night shows an advance of 1¾ on the report that the directors would declare a dividend. The market changes in the general list were insignificant. Governments steady.

OREGONIANA

Officials of the Pacific Postal Company are making a preliminary examination with the view of operating a line to Astoria.

It is reported that 160 men are now at work on the Elgin branch of the Union Pacific and 160 more are expected at La Grande from Huntington Steve Aldrich has obtained the contract for rock work on the branch

Both Pendleton papers have agreed on a topic for the first time They advocate the establishment of a woolen mill in that city The East Oregonian offers to subscribe $250 to any person who will establish such business that will give employment to 150 hands

The Pendleton East Oregonian says that Mr Henry Wooley who has a ranch on Butter creek has originated a new and excellent method for feeding his stock He has wintered his stock on stalks of sorghum and has found it superior to any other sort of provender

The two Belgian gentlemen who arrived recently in Pendleton were sent here on the recommendation of Father DeRoo who is now in Belgium, and it is said will be followed by quite a colony if favorably impressed by our climate and resources They are looking over the field and making estimates with a view of starting a large brewing enterprise here

Mr Sam Reynolds, who has a ranch on the middle fork of the John Day reports the loss of stock out there not as great as might be expected He has lost but twelve head Snow covers the range to a depth of ten inches, but under the rim rocks the grass is bare and cattle are enabled to find sustenance Feed is scarce, however and if the snow continues much longer the loss of stock will be great.

The Oregon Blade says that it is pretty certain that Judge Thayer of the supreme court will not be a candidate for re-election The Jacksonville Times, the leading democratic paper of Southern Oregon is bitterly opposed to him, and the East Oregonian is also of the opinion that he should not succeed himself Under the circumstances it is not at all probable that Mr Thayer will seek the nomination

A bounty of two cents each is now offered by the county court for the scalps of squirrels killed in Morrow county, not less than fifty scalps to be presented by any one person at one time The snow which fell after the squirrels had waked up and come out for their spring raids will greatly diminish their number, and the bounty now offered will enable the farmers to almost entirely rid their ranches of the little thieves, as it will pay for poison and traps

The condition of the people of Crook county cannot be very satisfactory judging from the Ochoco Review, which says Some are advancing the idea that the county court should cancel the taxes for 1889 that have not been collected This would be a charitable and just thing to do if there were any way to pay the running expenses of the county Though considering the losses Crook county has sustained the next legislature can reasonably be asked to pass a relief bill refunding the county's state taxes

Reliable reports have been received in Pendleton regarding the stock outlook on Snake river In the region from Snake river to Washtucna lake and Fishook Bend to Crab creek if the snow continues a few days longer the loss will be fully 75 per cent As an instance of the fearful loss it is stated that the dead bodies of 200 horses were counted at the mouth of Palouse river A man named Hall has lost 150 out of 300 head and has given up all hope of saving the remainder The dark cloud has a silver lining however A tremendous grain crop is looked for this season The prospects were never brighter, and a large acreage has been sown

WASHINGTONIANA.

The city council of Ellensburgh granted a franchise for a street railway (electric or cable The company at once filed a bond of $10 000 to begin work inside of thirty days and to have three quarters of a mile completed within four months on penalty of forfeiture of bond The franchise is granted for fifty years and it is stipulated that all work must be first class

Some farmers in Yakima county thinking the winter's backbone was broken with the clearance of the first heavy snowfall sold off their hay without reserve, receiving $24 per ton therefor They are now at leisure to condemn the prematurity of their action since the present and latest snowfall and heavy freezing places them in a bad fix The stock in that region, from all reports are likely to be decimated fearfully unless the weather moderates

A man named Perry Cox is mysteriously missing from Gray's Harbor City One day last week he awaited at the outer end of the long pier for the tide to rise sufficiently that he might take in a rowboat moored there A companion walked in and left Cox in the boat and here all trace of the man and boat is lost. The disappearance is more mysterious than that of Rostel whose body has not been recovered What may have happened can only be conjectured

The great vegetable substitute for pills is Simmons Liver Regulator

Stanley's Own Book
Henry M Stanley is now at Cairo, busily engaged in writing the only authentic story of his expedition to find Emin Pasha. It will be published at an early day by Charles Scribner's Sons, who control all American rights This is the only book on the subject that will be written by Mr Stanley himself, or with his consent or authority. Remember that STANLEY'S OWN BOOK WILL BEAR ON THE TITLE PAGE THE IMPRINT OF CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, and that it is the only one in which he will have any personal interest. It will be in two volumes of about 500 pages each, well provided with maps, and amply illustrated from Mr Stanley's own photographs and sketches. It will be sold only by subscription Agents wanted everywhere.

LOCAL NEWS IN A NUTSHELL

Portland-San Francisco Mails Again to Be Carried by Steamer.

The Weather—Muddy Trout Streams—Cowlitz River Traffic—Hon. W. C. Johnson Recovering—Cosmopolis to the Front.

THE WEATHER WILL MODERATE.—The bright morning sunshine and afternoon rain yesterday did not dislodge the ice which is blocked in the Columbia. Speaking of the weather, Captain Joseph Kellogg said to a reporter: "We will have warm weather until toward the first of the month, when perhaps we will have a few days of cooler weather. One can always tell by the moon and its movements just when a change is to take place. The moon is now but a few days from the north going south, and the weather will continue moderating until the latter part of the month or the first of next, when the moon will have again reached its northern limit, and a few cooler days will be the consequence." The following is the report east of the Cascades: Bonneville, 55, Hood River, 28, Dalles, 40, Arlington, 48, Umatilla, 40; Wallula, 48, Walla Walla, 55; Dayton, 55; Pomeroy, 57, Colfax, 44, Spokane, 38; Pendleton, 44, Kamela, 30, Union, 30; Huntington, 39; Heppner, 40; Pleasant Valley, 30; North Powder, 30, Durkee, 30. A light rain prevails at Hood River. At Pomeroy, Colfax and Spokane it rained all night, and for twenty-four hours it has been raining at Heppner.

THE COWLITZ RIVER AND STEAMERS.—The weather moderating has swollen the streams tributary to the Cowlitz river, and the water has commenced rising, so that steamers can once more resume their regular run to all points on the river. A few days ago the river was very low. At one place in the stream, where there always had been plenty of water, there was less than ten inches. Enough water, however, is now in the stream to enable the steamer Northwest, with a heavy cargo, to reach Toledo, the head of navigation on the Cowlitz. The steamer Joseph Kellogg, which has been undergoing a few necessary repairs to her machinery, will be ready for a cargo by Saturday, and will leave for Freeport. It is understood a daily line of steamers for the Cowlitz is soon to be inaugurated. The rapid settling of the surrounding country has greatly increased both freight and passenger traffic from every point on the river, and the managers of the line think they will be recompensed in the establishment of additional facilities.

THEY WILL SPAR TO WIN.—The fistic contest between "Dutch Doodlesack" and Jones, the Goose Hollow champion, at the Standard theater this evening, promises to be an event of more than usual interest. Speculation is running high as to who will win the battle. The match is to be for eight rounds, but if the referee is unable to decide the battle at the end of that time, additional rounds will be called until a winner can be declared. "Dutchy" is backed by the theater management to meet any hobo, weighing not over 140 pounds who has never had on the gloves, for $25 or $50. If he cannot stop any comer in a certain number of rounds that sum will be forfeited. The gloves used are of the largest and softest kind, so that the boys will furnish great amusement and at the same time run no chance of hurting each other. The match will be called promptly at 12 o'clock.

THEY TOO WANT A BOOM.—A gentleman who has just returned from a visit to Gray's harbor says that the little burg of Cosmopolis is preparing for a boom. The Port Blakeley railroad, said he, is constructed to a point within twelve miles of the city, and people are confidently expecting that another road will be projected. They are enterprising and liberal, in that they offer free sites and reasonable bonuses for the establishment of manufacturing industries, and they are getting in the right mood for a boom. The lots are the regulation boom size and the town is ready to fall in line with others that have been making a splurge. They think that their time for a boom has just about arrived.

THE MAILS.—Yesterday afternoon the postoffice authorities here were notified that there had been another slide in tunnel No. 9, on the Southern Pacific, near Delta, and it was ordered that mails for California be sent by steamer. The mails will probably reach San Francisco by this route sooner than if they had been sent by rail. The 700 sacks of Eastern mail which arrived Sunday night have been pretty well cleared up. The accumulation was caused by a snow blockade near Green River. Chief Clerk Henry, of the railway mail service, has moved his office into the commodious quarters formerly used by the postal inspectors, in the third story of the United States building.

TROUT STREAMS ARE MUDDY.—E. D. Dewert, who has just returned from a fishing jaunt up the Scappoose, states that the snow on the mountains had fallen to a uniform depth of nearly four feet. The warm weather and rains of the past few days have melted a great deal of it, and in many places the water is running down in rushing torrents. All of the streams are swollen, and the water is so murky that the wary speckled beauties are hard to catch. There are plenty of trout in the creeks, but the muddy condition of the water is a serious obstacle in the way of that legitimate luck which all honest fishermen strive so hard to attain.

THE WINTER IN IDAHO.—A letter from Mr. W. S. Duniway, now at the stock ranches of his father and himself, on Antelope meadows, in Idaho, states that despite the unprecedented severity of the winter all over the territory, their losses of stock will surely be less than 2 per cent., although those inadequately supplied with feed will lose from 25 to 75 per cent. The snow was so deep that it would almost submerge a yearling when it got off the beaten roads. The Messrs. Duniway showed their wisdom in obtaining the choicest hay lands of the Antelope basin, so they can always tide over a hard winter.

TO BE INVESTIGATED.—Hon. J. P. Faull, member of the Oregon state railroad commission, says that they have set April 8 next at Salem to hear testimony in the complaint filed by P. G. Strickland, of Kamela, against the Union Pacific, in which he alleges that there is not enough accommodation shown him by the company. The commission will also have to take cognizance of the recent accidents on the Union Pacific in which lives were lost. An investigation will be held as to the cause of death, and will probably occur some time about the 20th of this month.

THE FENCE COMPLETED.—The high picket fence around the Northern Pacific passenger depot, commenced some time since, is completed. It is understood that the fence is not for the sole purpose of keeping hackmen, hotel runners, etc., at bay, but to prevent certain swindling impositions in the manipulation of tickets, by obliging all passengers to pass through one doorway, where their tickets will be examined and punched, as is done in union depots. The fence is not very ornamental, but will prove useful and will answer the purpose intended.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JOHNSON.—The funeral of Mrs. Johnson will take place from St. Paul's M. E. church at 2 P. M. to-day. The services will be conducted by Revs. Cline, Houghton, Kummer, Harrington and others. This distinguished lady was a representative of Methodism in the educational circles of the East. Her husband was a classmate of Bishop Bowman, and was president of Dickenson college in Philadelphia. After the services the remains will be taken East by Rev. C. E. Cline and E. T. Johnson, railroad contractor, son of the deceased.

WANDERING MINSTRELS.—Allen Miller and George Green are the names of two young colored men who are going about the city giving impromptu musical concerts. They came from Nashville, Tenn., to fill an engagement, but when it was learned that they were colored the engagement was canceled. Miller is a one-legged man, and is great as a dance artist, as well as a banjo picker and singer. Green manipulates the harmonica. Their plantation melodies and new songs are creating considerable amusement.

HUGHES, BROWN & CO.—This firm claim to be rustlers. Five men and teams are at the disposal of those looking for bargains. There office is 72 Washington street, and they desire to announce that those wishing to dispose of property will find in them a medium to dispose of it. They are here to stay, and prefer steady and lasting customers rather than to "rope people in." In the new to-day will be found some of their many bargains. They believe in advertising and in not having the same "snaps" for a year.

WHO IS BREESE MOORE?—Mayor DeLashmutt is in receipt of two dispatches from H. C. Moore, of La Porte, Indiana, making inquiry regarding the whereabouts of Breese Moore, who is supposed to be sick in this city. The first dispatch read as follows: "Please look up Breese Moore, who wired me yesterday to come there or send him money. If sick, take care of him, if in trouble, wire me particulars." The second message, which came Tuesday, made further inquiry.

FURNACE TO BE LIGHTED.—The furnace of the Oregon Iron & Steel Company at Oswego, which was blown out some three months since in order that it might be relined, will be lighted to-day. During this time some extensive improvements have been made at the works, and when they are in operation again about 250 men will be employed there.

ABLE TO WALK ABOUT.—The numerous friends of Mr. W. Carey Johnson, who has been very sick for a long time, will be pleased to learn that there are good prospects for his early recovery. His partner, Mr. C. M. Idleman, states that he is able to walk about the house, and expects before long to be able to resume the practice of his profession.

OREGON BIBLE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of the Oregon Bible Society will be held at the Congregational church in this city, Friday evening, March 7, at 7:30 o'clock. The annual address will be delivered by Hon. George H. Williams. Subject: "Is the Bible the word of God?" The attendance will no doubt be large.

CONNECTION WITH PORT TOWNSEND.—Portland will before many months have connection with Puget sound's Key City by railroad, but Hughes, Brown & Co., have already connection with this city and one of the firm is at Port Townsend all the time, and many first-class bargains are sent to their office at 72 Washington street.

FILED HIS BOND.—Hon. Louis T. Barin has filed his official bond necessary to his qualification as United States marshal, the duties incumbent upon whom he will assume this morning. The sureties are Mayor Van B. DeLashmutt and Joseph Simon of this city, and they are jointly bound in the sum of $20,000.

AT THE NEW PARK NEXT WEEK.—Mr. Mark Drumm, representing the Caroline Gage & Keene's company, is in the city. Mr. Drumm's company, which has played in Oregon before, is said to be a very good one and opens at the New Park next Monday night, playing the entire week.

MONTHLY MEETING LADIES' AUXILIARY.—The regular monthly meeting of the ladies auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., will be held in the parlor of the association, this Thursday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired as important business will be transacted.

CONCERT AND LECTURE.—Mrs. Walter Reed, Portland's popular vocalist, will sing at the Young Men's Christian Association on Friday evening in the concert preceding the lecture by C. C. Bateman. Concert commences at 7:45 P. M.

VANCOUVER.—The ice blockade on the Columbia river is now over and all trains on the P. & V. R. R. schedule, No. 8, will leave as advertised in THE OREGONIAN.

CITY TAXES must be paid within the next few days or they will be declared delinquent. Taxpayers will do well to pay their taxes and save trouble.

BUTTER AND EGGS.—Choice butter 40c a roll, fresh Oregon eggs 18c per dozen. Burns & Ogden, Alder street, between Third and Fourth.

PLENTY OF SWEET Violets and other choice flowers at Burkhardt Bros., Twenty-second and G.

FOR THE LADIES.—A large variety of side combs just received at Golden Rule bazaar.

STATIONERY below cost. Corner Seventh and Market streets.

NEW PULLMAN SLEEPERS.

Northern Pacific Railroad—The Finest on Any Transcontinental Line.

The lot of new Pullman sleepers recently delivered to and now running on the Northern Pacific railroad are by far the finest ever seen on the coast. In addition to the modern improvements that the patrons of palace sleeping cars have become accustomed to, and now regularly look for when traveling, these cars are supplied with suites of elegant apartments especially designed for the use of families or small parties. These suites are complete in themselves, having sitting-room, sleeping apartment, toilet-room and other conveniences.

These cars are furnished throughout with heavy Wilton carpets and Turkish rugs, silken draperies in harmonious colors, seats, backs and arm-rests being upholstered in seal-brown plush. In the construction of these cars particular attention has been given to providing increased toilet accommodations for both ladies and gentlemen. For the former the space has been doubled, and there will be no disagreeable waits as in the old cars. For the latter a room off the smoking apartment has been provided with several marble bowls and an unlimited supply of hot and cold water, with pressure from faucets, and the lavatory being secluded, gentlemen are not embarrassed in the midst of their toilet by other passengers passing through. The comfort of gentlemen has been further looked to by providing extra large smoking-rooms, finished in English oak and richly upholstered.

An ingenious arrangement of the interior does away with the heavy silver rods and brackets previously used for hanging the berth curtains, and gives a more light and airy appearance to the body of the car. Large silver-plated double lamps are suspended from the richly decorated ceilings, the light from which is reflected from large beveledged French mirrors. Lamps are also placed overhead in the vestibuled rotunda, shedding a flood of light both inside and outside the cars. The effect, viewed from a distance, when the cars are passing over a stretch of dark prairie, with a back ground of sombre woods is very striking.

These heavy cars are mounted on massive trucks with springs so carefully adjusted that the cars travel at a high rate of speed without perceptible vibration, with rear gate of end car and vestibule doors of other cars closed, a child can visit, unattended through the train without danger.

Among the cars are noticed the familiar names of "Spokane," "Tatoosh," "Helena" and other stations on the line of the Northern Pacific not previously appropriated by the Pullman and Railroad Companies for the elegant sleepers on this line.

PROFESSOR F. D. SEWARD,

The Eminent Scientific Optician of New York,

Is now at the Holton house and will remain a short time only. This opportunity will enable the people of Portland to have their eyes scientifically examined and correctly fitted with proper glasses, thereby preserving their eyesight as far as the science of optics will permit. Call early, as much of the time has already been taken up by appointments. Professor Seward is indorsed by the leading oculists throughout the country.

Portland indorsements: J. E. Boynton, Ladd & Tilton's bank, Professor I. W. Pratt Harrison street school, Professor T. H. Crawford, Park school; Mr. Frank Motter, Board of Trade, Judge C. A. Dolph, Mr. Thos. Gray and M. B. Wakeman, O. T. Co.; Mr. I. Kaufman, J. Compton, J. W. Going and many others.

Office hours, 1 to 6 P. M., or in the morning by appointment. Room 7, Holton house.

BUSINESS ITEMS.

If you once try Carter's Little Liver Pills for sick headache, biliousness or constipation, you will never be without them. They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take. Don't forget this.

A Contrast.

The Somerville Journal says: "An honest man is the noblest work of God, and a balky horse is about the meanest." We beg to add that one of the noblest works ever vouchsafed to man, by man, was the universal dissemination of Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills. There is no medicine so happily adapted to the old and young as these pills. For torpid bowels, indigestion, and loss of appetite their healing properties are wonderful. They are sold everywhere.

NOTICE.

On account of private affairs demanding his entire time Mr. S. R. Fairchild, who for the past three years has had the management of our Portland store, has resigned his position and after March 1, 1890, has no connection with our business.

Mr. J. H. Spadone has been appointed manager of our Oregon branch, and has authority to transact business for us, and in our name. Respectfully yours,

W. F. BOWERS & Co.

San Francisco, March 1, 1890.

ANACORTES.

Four Railroads Said to Be Heading That Way.

Many people here believe that Anacortes is destined to become the "King City of Puget Sound and the commercial center of Western Washington. With the prospect of four transcontinental railways terminating here in the near future (the Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific railways), the prospect ahead for the city is certainly most flattering.

A great deal of prospecting has been done in Skagit and the neighboring counties with the result that coal, iron, silver and gold veins and lime ledges are found to exist in considerable quantities, and one of the leading companies here has received a special report from their prospector, to the effect that immense beds of coal are in the Skagit valley and coal of the best quality for coking, blast furnaces, steam and general fuel. The coal is a real bituminous, equal to the Cumberland Coal of Pennsylvania and Maryland. The mines are situated twenty-five miles east of the city of Anacortes, and are near Hamilton, on the north side of the Skagit river. There are two veins, the upper one of which is nine feet and the lower one eight feet thick, all clean and free from bone. It is estimated that at least 1000 tons of coal per day will be shipped from here to San Francisco alone. The result of all this will undoubtedly be the establishment of large furnaces here, and that day is not far distant either.

So rapid are the improvements in the "magic city," as Anacortes is now generally termed, that in less than three months from date the place will have thrown off the garb of infancy for that of manhood. Buildings continue to spring up with marvelous rapidity, and such a thing as an idle man (unless he chooses to be one) is entirely unknown here. The best of order prevails throughout the city, thanks to the continued energy of the citizens' committee, assisted most ably by the deputy sheriff.

A party from Texas have arrived and made all necessary arrangements to locate a foundry at McNaught's wharf, the cost of the plant of which will exceed at least $170,000.

During Bros., the well known leading bankers of London, England, now own a large interest on Fidalgo island. Such men as these do not usually invest in what is termed "wild cat property."

Incorporation still continues to be discussed, but it will be twelve months before Anacortes can possibly secure this, as a charter can only be issued by the legislature, and it will not convene until then.

It is understood that 200 acres on Guemes Island, facing McNaught's wharf, have been purchased by one of the enterprising real estate firms of Anacortes and is being platted for residence purposes. A more desirable location could hardly be found.

SATISFACTORY DEALING.

A poor man wants to save money and at the same time in making his purchases he wants to get value received for every dollar's worth of goods purchased. There is no better firm to deal with in the city than the Hoey & Wheeler Furniture Manufacturing Company, at 270 First street. They sell the best furniture, bedding etc., either for cash or on the installment plan, and guarantee satisfaction in all cases.

TO THE PUBLIC.

W. B. Faulkner, proprietor of the Oregon Athletic Club, to-day secured the lease of the Mechanics' pavilion and desires to announce that the retirement of "Senator" Morgan and J. F. Gerah will not affect the coming glove contest between Conly and Flaherty on evening of March 8. Mr. Faulkner will at once start the gymnasium and is making extensive improvements in the building.

GET IN NOW.

Now is the time above all others to buy Anacortes property. It is the best buy on the Sound today. Remember this and profit by the experience of others. Address the Oregon Improvement Company, Anacortes or Seattle, for the very best Anacortes property.

Spring Styles!

Under this caption we shall continue to give description of the various lines of goods suitable for Spring and Summer wear, which we shall display at our GRAND OPENING. We shall announce the date in the Oregonian. Spring Styles will receive our best attention.

Sateens!

This delightful Summer dress material is going to take the lead again this season. There seems to be a perfect craze for these goods this Spring, and both the foreign and our own manufacturers have eclipsed their previous work. We have just received our first importation invoice, and are placed on our counters for inspection. The patterns and designs are something new, a description of the many new designs would take up too much of our space and we will content ourselves by saying that we are positively showing the largest and grandest range of designs in SATEENS of any house in the city, and the styles are exclusive with us. They are as handsome as India Silks, and not near as expensive. The colorings are new and perfect. Intending purchasers are requested to examine our line and note designs and finish.

Flouncing!

We have just received from one of the largest manufacturers of St. Gall, 310 different designs in Swiss, India Lawn and French Nainsook, in exquisite Floriated Effects, Hemstitched, Van Dyke and Scalloped Edges.

New Arrivals! Spring Novelties.

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, MARCH 6.

THE PROPOSED BONDS.

It has several times been remarked by THE OREGONIAN, that subscriptions to the Hunt bonds will not require withdrawal of money from the business of the city. The subscriber will be required to pay only in installments, as the road is built; and when he makes his first payment of five per cent. he will receive a paid-up bond, which can be converted at once into current funds and used for his next payment. Or, so soon as the undertaking shall be fairly under way, a market will be made for the bonds, and the subscriber can dispose of the whole at once.

Hence the proposed subscription will not be a matter of money, unless the subscriber wishes to pay up the bonds and hold them as an investment for himself. He can turn the bonds and dispose of them in the general market; and the fact that citizens of Portland have taken a large share of these bonds will be a great factor in making such market in the East, where the remainder of the bonds will be placed. The bonds ought to sell at par, or nearly so, and since they will represent positive value they can be converted at any stage of the proceeding, and should not therefore be a charge to the subscriber for any great amount.

This road will open much new country; it will bring to Portland a large volume of business that now takes other directions, and will become one of the most important of the lines that contribute to the growth of the city. Portland, by subscribing these bonds, can obtain a large extension of her railway system, and very probably will open the way to still another transcontinental line.

A GOVERNMENT TRUST.

Has it occurred to any one that the policy which it is seriously proposed that the government shall adopt with reference to the silver product of the country is precisely that which public opinion so severely condemns, when it is practiced by commercial trusts and combinations? The treasury silver bill and the senate silver bill differ in some minor details; but they agree in the proposition that the government shall organize a gigantic silver trust. This is not at all a metaphor. It is simply and literally true, as any one may discover by a moment's reflection. What is a trust, any way? It is a commercial combination, controlled by a single purpose and supported by ample capital, which undertakes to raise the price of a given article by buying all that may be offered from any quarter. This, we think, is a fair and sufficiently comprehensive definition of the commercial trust. Its cousin, the industrial trust, only differs from it in its undertaking to control and limit production, to the same end of raising the price of the article trusted. This is what was done in the case of copper, of sugar, of cotton seed oil and of jute bagging. It is precisely what it is proposed that the government shall do with silver.

This is a case where it isn't necessary to organize a trust. The government is pretty well organized already and has more capital than M. Secretan's copper trust, the biggest thing of the kind hitherto undertaken. It is proposed that it shall employ this capital in the purchase at an upset price of one dollar for 371¼ grains, or about 40 per cent more than its present market price, all the silver that can be produced in the United States. This is exactly the method of the copper trust, which undertook to buy at a fixed price all the copper in the world. The silver bills undertake to limit the government's purchases to American silver, but any provision short of a prohibitory duty, intended to prevent bringing foreign silver here, when it is worth more money here than it is abroad, is likely to be ineffective. The sole and confessed object of this legislation is to raise the price of silver. The friends of both the senate and treasury bills commend them upon that ground.

The parallel of the government with the private trust is complete, except in one particular. The private trust is a business enterprise, worked for the benefit of the stockholders who realize a profit by the advanced price of the article trusted. The government trust is a charitable enterprise, for the benefit of some one else. The government can never realize a profit by bulling the price of silver. The only persons to gain by it will be the owners of silver mines. They will gain from year to year, as silver is forced up, as the copper miners gained by the operations of the Societe des Metaux. But the copper trust expected in the end to unload its purchases on the public at a price still further advanced. This the government can not do. It can only issue notes upon its purchases of silver at their market price, and redeem them, when offered, at its upset price. The silver owner will make all the money. This device adds a new category to the group of trusts. It brings into being the politico-benevolent trust.

TRANS-PACIFIC STEAMERS.

The line of steamers soon to be put on the Portland-Japan route will mark a long stride in the new era of commerce that is opening to the Western world. Those who thought the full possibilities of commerce had been reached when trade set up her marts on the farthest western shore of the great North American continent see their mistake in this reaching westwards toward Asia and the isles of the eastern seas. Japan, once so remote and hemmed in by tradition and custom from the great world beyond the limits of her own empire is now brought close to our doors and the Orient and the Occident clasp hands in commercial greeting. The Canadian Pacific route from Vancouver direct to Yokohoma and Hong-Kong has grown in a few years from a commercial venture to an established success, opening a field so broad that it has not been able to handle the rich and increasing harvest of trade that has resulted. The Union Pacific enters the field making Portland its Western terminous, with a prospect of developing in a few years a trade that will test the capacity of the steamers to the utmost. The volume of traffic between San Francisco and Oriental ports shows what can be done in this direction and indicates the enormous profits that will in due time follow the establishment of the Portland-Japan line of the Union Pacific.

As a primary condition of success for this undertaking it is necessary that the river channels between Portland and the sea shall be kept open to a depth of at least twenty feet, so that there may be no detentions. This is a matter that must have the attention of the city of Portland. Measures ought to be taken at once to ascertain just what changes have been made in the river channels by the Willamette flood, and to remove any obstruction it may have created. Maintenance of our commercial positions depends more on free movement to and from the ocean than any other single fact, if not more than on all other facts combined. Railroads are great and necessary agents of industry and commerce; but railroads will not do everything for us. We must have and maintain free communication with the sea, or railroads will be of small account. For these heavy trans-Pacific steamers there must be a good channel, and the matter should be looked after without delay.

The committee on ways and means does not show courage in dealing with the sugar schedule of the tariff law. It has, it is said, determined to put raw sugar on the free list and pay a bounty of two cents per pound for home grown sugar. The bounty principle is a new one in America and is far from popular. In truth, it is as defensible as a tariff duty. That is, if it is right to encourage production by duty, it is right to do it by bounty. But the trouble with the sugar industry is, it is too insignificant to be worth protecting at all, and is for climatic reasons incapable of extension. Sugar should go on the free list, and there should be no talk of a bounty.

Clouds are gathering in the labor horizon, threatening a storm on the 1st of May. The rumble of discontent is heard all along the line. Laborers complain of hours, of wages, of overcrowded ranks, in short of the decree of necessity that forces them to work in order that they may live. There are often hardships attendant upon the conditions that environ labor; there is no doubt about that, but there is not one but is aggravated by chronic discontent, nor one that is not in a degree lightened by cheerful, willing effort. Whether any concessions that organized labor may be able to secure in the foreboded contest will banish the first condition is doubtful; that neither short hours or increased pay will introduce and cultivate the second is certain. Justice is ready to give patient ear to the real grievances of labor, and to present its claims for redress to all proper tribunals, but it has no patience with the chronic wail of the workingman who finds constant fault with fate that he is not an employer, yet lacks the energy, sagacity and general ability to become one. The plaint of such men is tiresome. With the world all before them they mouth constantly of the lack of opportunity and become sour through envy of those they can not emulate. Labor strikes can not help them nor can a labor congress formulate laws that will more than temporarily benefit them, since there is no power outside of the individual himself that is able to exorcise the brooding spirit of discontent that is at once their bane, and the despair of the philanthropist who honestly seeks to right the wrongs that beset honest, willing labor.

Governor Pennoyer does not often, comparatively speaking, interpose pardon between criminals and terms of service in the penitentiary to which they have been sentenced. When, therefore, he does interfere it seems as if he might find a culprit more worthy of executive compassion than one who was adjudged guilty of so abhorrent a crime as rape. A sentence of five years in the penitentiary is, in the judgment of common decency, light enough punishment for a crime so bestial, and it is hard to conceive of circumstances sufficiently mitigating to justify the governor in cutting the term down nearly one-half. The man thus liberated naturally goes out with a feeling that he was not such a bad fellow after all, and that the court was entirely too severe upon him. The entire end and aim of punishment is defeated by clemency in such a case, as it palliates mischievously in the mind of the criminal an offense for which there is never under any circumstances the slightest legitimate excuse, while it in a degree vindicates him before the community which his action outraged. Let executive clemency intervene between the horse-thief and his sentence, or even the murderer and his doom, if the governor feels unduly constrained of pity, but in behalf of the helpless and the innocent, let a deaf ear be turned to the plea for pardon of the lascivious wretch under sentence for this most disgusting, brutal and wholly inexcusable crime.

A postoffice has been created recently at North Suffolk, L. I., as was alleged for the purpose of giving a relative of President Harrison a position as postmaster. Inquiry has brought out the fact that the "president's relative," Jeremiah Tuthill, had for twenty years carried the mail to his native village from the nearest railway station, a distance of some miles without other compensation than the good will of his fellow citizens. A petition finally resulted in the establishment of a postoffice at North Suffolk, the village he had so long served, and Mr. Tuthill's long volunteer service resulted in his appointment as postmaster for the new office. As to relationship to the president, careful inquiry developed the fact that the appointee's grand father's grand father was a brother of President Harrison's grand mother's grand father and the friends of the administration after due consideration decided that the relationship is too intricate to have value as democratic campaign material, so "cousin Jeremiah" will be permitted to write P. M. after his name and draw the salary of $800 per annum during the next three years, notwithstanding the consanguineous tie which binds him to the occupant of the White house.

Donee, the youthful Seattle criminal, characterized in our dispatches as "a dime novel desperado," has run a desperate race and his last feat suggests that it may also be a short one. His public career as a criminal began on the 27th of January, when he went in open daylight into a gambling saloon in Seattle, and after the manner of "Highwayman Jack," called upon the faro dealer to "stand and deliver," which order emphasized by the close proximity of an ugly looking English bull-dog pistol, was obeyed with alacrity. His last exploit was firing the bedding in his cell and choking his fellow jail bird, inflicting injuries from which the latter died some days afterward. The plea of "youthful exuberance," "young blood" etc., usually set up in behalf of refractory boys will scarcely be strong enough to save this young villain's neck. He is young, it is true, but if youth has developed such deviltry, the community may well shudder at the possibilities in crime that the future might bring out in his case.

The Panama canal is dead. It is not necessary to wait for the official report of the commissioners sent to the isthmus by the receiver of the canal company to reach this conclusion. The unofficial reports of the observations of the commissioners are pretty accurate and trustworthy. Panama canal shares began to decline in Paris before the commission left the isthmus, and have fallen more than 20 per cent. since. The project is past resuscitation. A newspaper report to a Paris paper received about the same time says that only three-tenths of the work on the canal is done, and the part finished is already beginning to fill with sand. This three-tenths has cost $250,000,000, to supply which obligations amounting to $400,000,000 have been incurred. No wonder the shares go down.

The testimony in the preliminary examination of William Scott at McMinnville for the murder of his wife brought out the fact that the shockingly bereaved husband settled himself down to take "a bite of breakfast" in response to a neighborly invitation of a friend to whose house he went on that fateful Sunday morning with the tidings that "his wife had killed herself," leaving the bloody body uncovered on the porch of his home. If his appetite had failed him at this juncture he would probably not have been able to get through the grief and excitement of the extraordinary occasion. This shows how an unexpected blessing may soothe even the direst calamity.

The death of young Abraham Lincoln, so long foreshadowed by tidings of his severe illness, took place in London yesterday forenoon. The announcement supplements a long period of suffering which medical science strove in vain to relieve. The interest that is awakened by mention of the honored name he bore has been on the alert for tidings from his bedside, hoping against hope for news of his recovery. The stroke to his parents is one from which thousands have shrunk—no more, no less, and for this reason the sympathies of thousands of desolate hearts go out toward them in their sorrow.

The intending tourist looks eastward and patiently defers his journey, in the reasonable hope of a material reduction in traveling rates when the spring has fairly opened. This is one of the benefits that the public occasionally reaps from sharp corporative competition and the serious falling out among the managers which it periodically engenders. Unless differences now existing between various lines are adjusted, there is a prospect that people can travel cheaper than they can stay at home during the spring and early summer months.

Examination of the vote in the house on selection of site for the world's fair of 1892 shows that Chicago had votes from thirty-two out of forty-two states. These votes, moreover, came from the state of Maine in the northeast to the state of Texas on the southwest, and from the states of Oregon and Washington in the northwest to the state of Florida in the southeast. The vote for Chicago was the furthest possible remove from a sectional thing.

The declaration of Mayor DeLashmutt that "the more roads we can get into Portland the better," received the cordial indorsement of our active business men. All that is lacking is the substantial backing of this judgment by money, and this will no doubt soon be supplied. All roads in the East lead to New York; all in the middle West to Chicago; all in the Pacific Northwest will eventually lead to Portland.

The archbishop of Paris has issued a decree forbidding cremation. The basis of his opposition to this manner of the disposal of the dead is not made known, but he probably objects to cheating purgatory of a job, the performance of which forms one of the strongest elements in the creed, which enrolls the ignorant in the ranks of the faithful.

PERSONS WORTH KNOWING ABOUT.

Hebor Newton is surprised to hear from various parts of the country that he is about to join the Roman Catholic church.

Henry Watterson is still a young man. He celebrated his 50th birthday last week. His health is good and he is a very happy man.

Emperor William has decided to send the crown prince and his second son, Prince Frederick, to Hanover shortly in order that they may attend the classes of the famous public school there.

Judge Matheny says that Abraham Lincoln was one of the first members of the Sons of Malta in Springfield. He took the joke in the best of humor and was nearly always present when there was to be an initiation.

Will Carleton, the poet is getting stout, lives in Brooklyn and acknowledges to 45. His success has been sudden, yet, while the critics give him a wide berth, he gets fancy prices for his verselets, and his future work is already contracted for. He has hitherto confined his effusions to the farm yard.

James G. Blaine has aged very much this winter. His domestic afflictions have crushed his proud heart, and done more to furrow his cheeks and whiten his hair than years of political disappointment. The highest political honors no longer possess the attraction that they did when he was surrounded by an unbroken family circle.

Personal Mention.

Fish Commissioner Campbell is at the St. Charles.

D. J. Crowley, a prominent capitalist of Walla Walla, is at the St. Charles.

L. P. Lowe, of the Pullman Palace Car service of Omaha, is at the Esmond.

Ex-Governor Miles C. Moore, now of Walla Walla, is staying at the St. Charles.

Lee Moorehouse, Ind an agent at the Umatilla reservation, was in the city yesterday.

Dr. Aug. C. Kinney and wife, of Astoria, left for St. Paul yesterday over the Northern Pacific.

John W. Phalon, of the Northwestern, has returned from an extended trip through the Sound territory.

James Jones, the Canadian Pacific's Port Townsend agent, who has been here several days, has left for home.

State Superintendent of Schools E. B. McElroy is at the Esmond. He came down from Salem yesterday, and is on his way to Eastern Oregon.

E. P. Thompson, one of the Astoria & South Coast railway directors took up his old quarters at the St. Charles yesterday, having come down from Salem.

H. H. Holt, formerly one of the popular ticket-punchers on the Northern Pacific between Portland and Tacoma, has been spending a few days in the city among old friends. He is now engaged in the mercantile business at Tacoma.

Rev. J. C. Fair is in the city, awaiting assignment to a parish by Bishop B. W. Morris. Mr. Fair officiated Sunday at St. David's, in East Portland, and St. Stephen's, in Portland. He has been away from the coast for a year at New York, on account of the death of his father, but is now ready for a return to work. He is glad to be back in Bishop Morris's diocese.

Colonel Charles E. Morgan, of The Dalles, commanding officer of the Third regiment, O. N. G., was in the city yesterday. He says the winter has been very severe on small owners of stock in his country, many of whom will lose their all. He says his regiment shares the common need of the Oregon militia, a lack of the necessary funds for proper practice and equipments.

SPIRIT OF THE NORTHWEST PRESS.

MAKING PUBLIC SENTIMENT.

Helena Journal: It is very amusing to see the democratic method of showing public sentiment relative to the late political controversies. The Independent copies the editorials from the Miner, the Standard and the River Press; the Standard copies the editorials from the Independent, the Miner and the River Press; the River Press copies the editorials from the Independent, the Miner and the Standard. In this way the public sentiment business is kept in circulation. No effort will be spared by the democratic party to elevate itself by its boot straps.

PLACE NO BAR TO FREE MONEY.

Wasco County Sun: The taxation of mortgages has the effect of preventing money from being brought into the state for investment, and of causing our own capital to be sent out of the state for investment in places where money is not fettered by such laws. Experience has shown that any interference with the free movement of money results in checking development and progress. Money, like other necessaries, is governed by the law of supply and demand.

MIXING NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Waitsburg Times: A farmer near Dixie last Monday sent a letter to J. H. Morrow & Co., of this city, asking for a bill of goods. He enumerated the articles he wished and inter-mixed with the list a bit of news. The following is a copy of the letter: "Send me a sack of flour, five pounds coffee and one of tea. My wife gave birth to a boy baby last night and also a keg of nails, a screw driver and a spool of barb-wire. It weighed ten pounds and a ton of soft coal."

FRIENDS OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASLEEP.

Portland West Shore: The friends of woman suffrage must have been asleep when the constitution of Washington was formed, or else devoted their attention solely to the clause defining the qualifications of electors. It now develops that under the constitution a woman cannot hold an office of any kind—a privilege they were not before denied. The movement seems to have progressed sternward at a rapid pace the past two years.

WILL REQUIRE CLOSE FIGURING.

Pendleton Tribune: It looks as though it will take a good deal of close figuring to beat D. P. Thompson out of Pennoyer's job if he wants it. However, there are several other gentlemen who think they can do so, which, of course, remains to be seen.

SHERIFF FLACK MAY ESCAPE.

His Wife Has Relented, and the Great New York Scandal Is to Be Hushed.

NEW YORK, March 5.—There is no longer any doubt, according to the World, that Mary E. Flack, wife of Sheriff Flack of New York, has again been influenced by her son to aid him and his father in escaping the unpleasant result of the now celebrated conspiracy. Sheriff Flack himself has been to see her, and it is stated on excellent authority that he actually proposed to live again with this much abused woman.

When the case was called for trial yesterday a certificate was presented, signed by Dr. Wilson, of this city, stating that Mrs. Flack was dangerously ill. The trial had to be postponed again for a week. The district attorney seems to have placed but little reliance in the certificate, for yesterday Dr. Ward and a detective went to New Britain on a mission of importance. Dr. Ward was armed with an order from the supreme court instructing Landlord Debenham, of the Windsor hotel, to allow the doctor to see Mrs. Flack.

As soon as Dr. Ward made known his visit, Mrs. Flack broke out crying and sobbing: "No, I don't want to see them go to jail; to think of my poor son Willie going to prison. What will people say? It is all my fault. Yes, I am responsible for it." In all her previous interviews Mrs. Flack stated that her husband was to blame for her troubles. Her opinion seems to have undergone a great change. Mrs. Flack added: "I have been led on, and have been too hasty in listening to bad advice, and then my husband has been in bad company, too."

It can be stated with absolute truth that Mrs. Flack is not so sick that she cannot be removed to New York. She is by no means dangerously ill.

TREASURER NOLAN A DEFAULTER.

The Honest Governor of Missouri Refused to Hush the Matter Up.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—At Jefferson City it is now considered a settled fact that State Treasurer Nolan is short over $30,000. Treasurer Nolan was at the state capitol this morning and reiterated his former denials of a shortage. It has now developed that Governor Francis, while in New York, received a telegram from his private secretary and at once hurried home and to Jefferson City, taking charge of the treasurer's office at once. Then the bondsmen met and decided that the deficit must be met and the matter hushed up, but to this proposition the governor demurred, on the ground that such action would be unlawful, and he could not afford to compromise himself in that way; hence the inevitable exposure.

Good Fenian Doctrine Wildly Cheered.

CHICAGO, March 5.—Central Music hall was packed last night with Irish nationalists, gathered to celebrate Robert Emmet's anniversary. The principal speaker of the evening was Thomas Brennan, of Omaha, first secretary of the land league in Ireland. In the course of his address Brennan said: "Sincerely is peace with England wanted, but it must be peace with honor. To obtain it they must not sneer at fighters like Emmet and such men as the Fenians who died on the gallows at Manchester. Then it was the voice of the entire Irish people: 'Let the old fight go on.' The sons of Ireland had the same right in this day as the Americans had in 1776 to fight, and die if necessary, for liberty from England and English tyranny. They had the right to the same weapons, or any other weapons of a more destructive kind, if they had but the prospect of success. [Wild cheering, repeated again and again.] For the present, the sword was in the scabbard, and they were pledged not to unsheathe it unless of dire necessity, and they were able to drive it to the hilt. So long as Ireland was held as a subject province, Irishmen would continue to work and plan together, and, if need be, again conspire and plot."

The London "Times's" Operations in America.

CHICAGO, March 5.—A reporter showed Thomas Brennan the cable containing a London Times statement about A. J. Sheridan, of Colorado, saying the latter should have been brought over to London to testify. Brennan said: "This utterance of the Times fully confirms Sheridan's affidavit, which I obtained from him last April in Colorado, and which showed the efforts of the despicable sheet to manufacture evidence against Parnell and his friends. With regard to the letter of introduction which Davitt publishes, I have this much to say: I saw that letter from Devoy to Egan, and Egan sent it over by the messenger that also took Sheridan's affidavit. Perhaps it is just as well right at this moment to name the gentleman who acted as messenger on that occasion. He is James Roorke, of Dublin. Roorke came out here to Chicago from Dublin, by way of New York, and in this very hotel received Sheridan's affidavit from me, to be taken with him back to Dublin."

The London Nobility Scandal.

LONDON, March 5.—Labouchere in an interview on the subject of the Cleveland street scandal, said it could not be denied that Hammond was assisted to escape. The books at Cook's tourist offices, he said, show that Nexton, solicitor for Lord Arthur Somerset, bought tickets to America for Hammond and a boy who accompanied the latter in his flight. There are also a number of letters which prove that Hammond was assisted to leave the country. Labouchere said it was untrue that Hammond was paralyzed. On the contrary, he was always in good health, and was well aware of everything going on in the Cleveland street house. Hammond's wife and sister, who kept house for him, also knew the character of the place. Labouchere had not heard of Beveridge's house in Eustin road, and was skeptical as to its existence. He suggested that a cross-examination of Hammond and the boy who fled with him to America would elicit valuable facts.

Fracas in the New York Capitol.

ALBANY, March 5.—The final hearing before the senate committee on miscellaneous corporations this afternoon of the weekly payment of wages bill ended in a fracas. Carsey, of New York, claiming to represent the union labor party, prepared the bill. Senator Roesch condemned Carsey, questioning his right to represent organized labor. Then the committee adjourned and the crowd filed out into the corridor, where Curtis Dunham, a reporter of the New York World, was standing. The World is advocating the weekly pay bill and has strongly criticised Carsey. Carsey spoke to Dunham and then struck at him. Assemblyman Rice stepped up to stop Carsey, when Carsey's son dealt him a staggering blow full in the left eye, cutting the cheek. For a moment a general scuffle ensued, which was stopped by the intervention of Senator Richardson.

The Bill Is Not for Europe's Benefit.

PARIS, March 5.—Lecomte, member of the deputies, had an interview with Spuller, minister of foreign affairs, in which he represented the disadvantage the French dry goods trade would suffer from the adoption by the American congress of the McKinley bill. Spuller stated that France, England, Italy and Switzerland agreed to communicate with the Washington authorities in regard to the matter.

A Decree Cannot Bind a Trust.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Judge Wallace, of the United States circuit court handed down a decision to-day in the case of William Wall against the trustees of the American cotton oil trust, denying the motion for a decree, restraining the trust from dissolving until the termination of twenty-one years, for which time the concern was organized, on the ground that a decree cannot bind a trust.

On the Trail of the Apaches.

GLOBE, Ariz., March 5.—[Special Telegram]—The last news received from the troops in pursuit of the five Apaches who killed Freighter Herbert on the Gila river March 2 is that Lieutenants Watson and Clark are hot on the trail of the murderers, who are heading a little west of Fort Apache, and are pushing them hard. A small detachment will be sent out from Fort Apache to intercept them if possible.

Murderous Saloonkeeper Fatally Stabbed.

YREKA, Cal., March 5.—Early this morning a saloonkeeper named Neufer and a young miner named Mann, while under the influence of liquor, quarreled, and Neufer went behind the bar, secured an ice-pick and attacked Mann. The latter drew a pocket knife and stabbed the aggressor five times, inflicting severe and probably fatal wounds.

No one ever tried Simmons Regulator without being satisfied with its effect.

GOSSIP OF WASHINGTON

No Special Appropriations For Rivers and Harbors.

SENATORS FEAST ON FAT SALMON

Representative Cate, Elected by the Double-Action Ballot-Box Unseated—Big Petition Against Laws Regulating Religion.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—[OREGONIAN office, corner Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.]—Senator Dolph has bills appropriating about $2,500,000 for the improvement of the Columbia river and $1,500,000 for the Cascades. Since Mr. Hermann's expressed fear that it would be impossible to get through the house Mitchell's boat railway bill, Senator Dolph has been somewhat uneasy as to what will be done with his bill in the lower branch. Hermann said to-day that he did not see how it was possible to get through any separate improvement measures. It might be possible to get through an omnibus bill which would include the Columbia river improvement, the Sault canal on the great lakes, the Texas harbors and the Mississippi. In this way a combination might be formed to carry through large appropriations for the most important improvements where they would benefit the greatest number. Hermann has no hope for separate measures, and after the river and harbor committee makes up its schedule there will be little hope for anything that is left out.

The house committee on territories has completed its report on the bill to admit Idaho into the Union, and it will soon be presented to the house. The report concludes: "There is nothing in the Idaho statutes or clause in the constitution which disbars a good citizen or one entitled to the franchise, from exercising political privileges. Whenever the Mormon church abandons its advocacy and practice of polygamy and bigamy, there is nothing to prevent its members from voting. This Mormon question has been a troublesome one for years, and has been a standing disgrace to our government. The evils of Mormonism have become so great in that territory that all non-Mormons, regardless of party, united in strongly urging this legislation."

It is understood that Springer and Mansur will prepare a minority report opposing passage of the bill. It is understood they favor the omnibus bill providing for admission of Idaho and other territories at one time.

The house committee on appropriations is getting its work well forward. Within the next two or three days the fortifications bill will be reported, providing for the expenditure, within the next year, of $4,000,000, for the purpose of putting the coasts of the country in better condition for defense. This money is all that can be used for the purpose in the next twelve months, as it is to be expended mostly in building big guns; and all the gun factories in the United States must be kept running all year in order to use this sum. Although preparations are now being made to enlarge the Watervliet arsenal to double its capacity, at the present time it is only possible to construct twenty-four heavy guns in twelve months in the United States. The $4,000,000 called for in the bill is to be expended practically at New York, Boston and San Francisco. Of this the last named city will get $510,000, and $260,000 will be expended in mountings and machinery for the new disappearing gun to be put up on the bluff above Fort Point, together with the construction of earthworks for the better protection of this special piece of ordnance. The heavy guns called for in the bill are ten and twelve inch breech-loading steel rifled cannon.

Senator Stockbridge presented to-day two immense packages of remonstrances against the passage of any bill in regard to the observation of the Sabbath or Lord's day, or any other religious or ecclesiastical institution or rite, and against the adoption of any resolution to amend the national constitution that would in any way give preference to the principles of any religion above another, or that will in any way sanction legislation upon the subject of religion. These remonstrances contain individual signatures of 306,377 citizens from different states and territories, as follows: Michigan 41,447, Minnesota 22,880, Wisconsin 20,750, Kansas 60,075, California 20,428, Ohio 19,360.

While the committee on public lands were considering the general forfeiture bill to-day Representative Hermann was heard in reference to the unearned grant of the Northern Pacific between Wallula, Wash., and Portland, Or. He said that there were three and a half million acres of land lying idle, untaxed and untaxed, and to which the railroad could give no title, and further that the settlers in the limits of the grant were compelled to pay $2.50 per acre, instead of $1.25, which would be the case as soon as the grant was declared forfeited. The committee will probably report a general bill forfeiting all unearned grants.

The senators and representatives to-day had an opportunity to sample Columbia river salmon. J. B. Montgomery received several samples of this Oregon product, and with Senator Dolph entertained the senators in the capitol restaurant. Representative Hermann joined them in the house restaurant and invited the speaker, the members of the rivers and harbors committee and others to participate in a salmon lunch. The congressional palate was tickled, and voted the Columbia river fish the highest honors.

The sub-committee of the house committee on elections has recommended that the full committee report to the house the resolution providing for a searching inquiry by a sub-committee into the events attending the assassination of Clayton, who was the contestant for the seat in the house now occupied by Breckinridge.

Senator Mitchell to-day introduced a bill to reimburse the commissioners who treated with the Cœur d'Alene Indians for $418, that being the amount they are entitled to in addition to the sum appropriated by congress.

IN THE HOUSE.

Featherstone, Republican, Seated From the First Arkansas District.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In the house, immediately after the reading of the journal, consideration of the Arkansas election case of Featherstone vs. Cate was resumed, and the contestee accorded the floor to speak in his own behalf. It was the duty of the members, he said, not to elect to-day a representative from the First district of Arkansas, but, laying aside party prejudice, determine whom the people of that district had chosen to represent them.

McRea of Arkansas, in a four-minute speech, defended and eulogized the people of his state.

Houk of Tennessee, who has charge of the case for the majority of the committee on elections, made a presentation of the claims of contestant. In conclusion Houk urged that the colored people of the South should be given a fair chance. No man could hold a seat on this floor who was returned by means of rifles, clubs and fraudulent ballot boxes. He was in favor of a national election law. At the conclusion of his speech Houk demanded the previous question. Hill of Illinois, republican, who was supposed to be opposed to the claims of Featherstone, rose and asked unanimous consent to address the house. There was a good deal of excitement exhibited during the roll call, as the vote was very close. The vote resulted, yeas 145, nays 141, so the previous question was ordered.

Outhwaite then offered as a substitute for the first resolution reported by the majority, declaring Cate not entitled to a seat, a resolution declaring Featherstone not entitled to it. This was rejected, yeas 138, nays 144, Hill of Illinois voting with the democrats.

Springer moved to recommit the case to the committee on elections, with instructions to the committee to appoint a sub-committee, and proceed to Arkansas and investigate the election in the first district of that state. Boutell suggested the propriety of a provision that the members of committee be permitted to return to Washington alive. Springer's motion was defeated; yeas, 138; nays, 146. During the roll-call a great deal of confusion existed. Outhwaite calling the speaker's attention to the fact, asked that order be restored.

The Speaker—The house will be in order; the gentlemen will take their seats and cease conversation.

Crisp, who was standing in one of the aisles, objected to being pointed out.

The speaker—The chair did not point out the gentleman.

After a heated argument between the speaker and Crisp, the latter said: "The only point I desire to make is that the speaker goes too far when, after he has obtained order and a gentleman is attempting to find his seat, the whole business is suspended and an individual member poluted out in this way."

The Speaker—The chair does not think any gentleman ought to consider himself any exception to the request made by the speaker that the gentlemen take their seats.

The vote declaring Cate not elected was yeas 147, nays 138, and Featherstone was seated by a vote of yeas 146, nays 141, and the oath of office was administered to him by the speaker. Adjourned.

IN THE SENATE.

Columbia River Salmon Break Up the Proceedings—The Blair Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In the senate the bill increasing the pension of the widow of General Warren was taken up and on a question of passage the vote was yeas 19, nays 6. As there was no quorum voting there was a call of the senate when thirty-six senators, less than a quorum, answered. Thereupon a motion by Platt, directing the sergeant-at-arms to request the attendance of absent senators was agreed to. After some minutes the presiding officer, Ingalls, informed the senate that the sergeant-at-arms had just reported that there were twenty-two senators in the restaurant. They had been notified to attend and they declined to do so. In a few minutes, however, several of the disobedient senators entered and explained that they were discussing the merits of two Columbia river salmon, weighing between thirty-five and forty pounds each, which had been shipped to Colonel Montgomery, from Portland, Or., who was visiting Washington, and by him served up to a delegation of friends in the upper house.

The chair announced that as there was a quorum now present and 2 o'clock had arrived the educational bill was before the senate as unfinished business, and the Warren pension bill remained on the calendar.

Barbour addressed the senate in advocacy of the educational bill, and Plumb made an address in opposition to the bill. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

In the executive session no conclusion was reached in the matter of violations of secrecy by newspapers.

THE NEAGLE ARGUMENT.

An Intricate Question of State and Federal Powers.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Argument before the United States supreme court in Neagle's habeas corpus case was concluded to-day. Choate continued his argument on the line laid down by him yesterday, that of the supremacy of the United States to the states. He maintained that when the constitution vested judicial power in the courts, and to carry this into effect enacted laws to divide the country into circuits, it necessarily implied that in the discharge of the duties so imposed upon them the officers of the courts should be absolutely protected by the government, whose servants they are. The case was closed by Attorney-General Johnson, of California, in behalf of the state. He conceded that congress might pass a law for the protection of judges while traveling to or from their circuits, but maintained that no such law had been passed giving this protection, either in words or by implication, and that its passage was absolutely essential in order to supersede the police power of the states.

During Johnson's argument Justice Harlan interrupted Johnson to ask him: "Suppose, Mr. Attorney-General, this tragedy had occurred in the court room and that the man had come in for the purpose of killing the judge—what then?"

"Oh, I think the officer would undoubtedly have authority to protect his judge," said Johnson.

"Under what statute would you rest the defense of this act?" queried Justice Harlan.

"It would be no statute," replied Johnson, "but simply the inherent power of the court to maintain protection of itself in the courtroom, but outside the courtroom the case would assume a different aspect."

"Then you hold that Justice Field and Marshal Neagle, while in the station at Lathrop, were in the simple capacity of private individuals?" asked Harlan.

"Undoubtedly, yes," replied Johnson.

Johnson then attacked the position of opposing counsel, who maintained that Terry and his wife had entered into a conspiracy to violate the laws of the United States, and that Neagle, in preventing the consummation of the conspiracy against United States law, had placed himself under the jurisdiction of section 753 of the revised statutes, providing for writs of habeas corpus. This argument Johnson met with a single reference to the law of California, which says there can be no conspiracy between man and wife, they being as one.

Referring to the questions of the police power of California, Johnson said this was a cause involving an alleged violation of the police laws of the state. He quoted from the constitution where it says powers not delegated to the United States are reserved to the state. The tenth article of the amendment must govern in matters of police powers until congress passed a law giving to the United States authorities peculiar police powers.

Johnson then referred to the opinion of the late Chief Justice Marshall, that an officer of the United States in performing his duty does it at his own peril, and if he proceeds in such performance otherwise than is warranted by the specific law he is liable for damages. Johnson maintained that Attorney-General Miller had no authority to order Neagle to perform the duty that was performed, as there was no specific law under which Miller could command Neagle. The simple fact that a federal officer is acting in the line of his duty is not a guarantee that he should come under the jurisdiction of the federal court unless his line of duty is warranted and explicitly outlined by the federal law. In the absence of such law the officer comes under the jurisdiction of the police powers possessed and exercised by the state. We are told that no such law was needed; that the marshal possesses inherent powers equivalent to a warrant of law. I say there can be no inherent powers vested in a marshal whose powers are named and limited by law."

Johnson then elaborated his argument upon the line of the powers of police law possessed by the state, and to which he claimed Neagle was clearly amenable when he broke the peace by killing Terry. Here Johnson rested and the case went to the court.

LAND OFFICE DECISIONS.

The Husband and Wife Homestead Trick—The Railroad Loses Again.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—[Special Telegram.]—Assistant Secretary Chandler to-day sustained the ruling of the land office which canceled the entry of Thomas E. Henderson in section 30, township 19, range 40, Spokane Falls district. Henderson filed on one quarter section and Viola Davis filed on an adjoining quarter. They built a house on the dividing line, married and undertook to prove up for the two homesteads.

The department holds that this does not comply with the law. A husband and wife, while they live together as such, can have but one residence. Henderson and his wife must therefore have been living either on his or on her claim. One entry must be canceled, and the land office gave the couple the option.

Secretary Noble to-day decided, in the case of the Northern Pacific Railway Company against Nancy E. Kerry, involving the right to enter section 1, township 27, range 37, Spokane Falls district, in favor of the settler. Another settler was on the land when the Northern Pacific filed its map of definite location. The land was within the limits of the grant. The first settler gave up his claim, and the company held that their rights attached thereto. The secretary says that the company could not acquire any granted rights except such as attached at the instant of filing its map of definite location. The settler got the lands.

In the case of Emery Harris against the Northern Pacific Railway Company, Secretary Noble to-day ordered a reinstatement of Harris's homestead entry in section 5, township 3, range 2, Vancouver district. Harris had once occupied the land and abandoned it on the advice of the local land officers. The company claimed that its rights then attached. The secretary holds that the settler is entitled to be given back his original rights.

ARMY AND NAVY DISCIPLINE.

Courts-Martial to Try Commander Coglan and Lieutenant Steele.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The secretary of the navy to-day ordered that a court-martial convene at Mare Island navy yard the 13th inst. for the trial of Commander Joseph B. Coglan on two charges, one of conduct prejudicial to good order and naval discipline, and the other for violation of naval regulations. The specifications allude to a letter written by Commander Coglan criticising the administration of naval affairs in general and that of the Mare Island navy yard in particular.

CHICAGO, March 5.—General Crook has ordered a court martial to try Lieutenant Steele, of the Eighth cavalry. The charge is that he ordered one Private Wild to do work for him (Steele), and upon his refusal caused him to be tried and imprisoned for insubordination. The private was recently released by order of the secretary of war.

CHICAGO, March 5.—[Special Telegram.]—Following is the detail for the court-martial to try Lieutenant Steele, Eighth cavalry: Colonel James F. Wade, Fifth cavalry; Major William J. Lyster, Sixth cavalry; Captain Carr, First cavalry; Captain Woodruff, Second artillery; Captain James Sanno, Seventh cavalry; Captain Moore, Ninth cavalry; Captain Babcock, Fifth cavalry; Captain Munson, Sixth infantry; Captain Swigert, Second cavalry; Captain Penny, Sixth infantry; First Lieutenant Townsend, Sixth infantry; Second Lieutenant Toggart, Sixth infantry; Captain Murray, U. S. A., acting judge-advocate of the department of the Missouri, judge-advocate. In case of the absence of any of the members named in the order the court is instructed to proceed with the business assigned it, provided the number be not less than the minimum prescribed by law. The court is authorized to sit without regard to hours.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

The Chippewa Reservation.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The president approved the agreement entered into with several bands of Chippewa Indians in Minnesota under the act of congress of January, 1889. Four million acres are ceded to the government under this agreement. Referring to this approval the secretary of the interior has promulgated a notice warning would-be settlers that these reservations are not yet open and that they must not trespass thereon.

Purchase of Four Per Cent. Bonds.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The secretary of the treasury announced to-day that he is prepared to resume the purchase of 4 per cent. bonds to such amount as may be justified by the available balance in the treasury. All offers at 123 flat or less will be accepted.

Taulbee Likely to Die.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Taulbee's condition is very serious to-night. There is little hope of recovery.

REED OF THE CLUBS

latform Adopted by the Republican League Delegates.

NDORSEMENT OF SPEAKER REED

ode Island Democrats Reaffirm Faith in Cleveland's Tariff Policy—Mrs. Cleveland a Discreet Politician.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 5.—It was after [illegible] o'clock when President Thurston rapped the [illegible] onal convention of the Republican League to order. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. Derrick, of New York, after which [illegible] ams and letters were received from President Harrison, congressmen, Hon T C Platt, of New York, and others. Harrison, among other things said:

"The party to which you belong has never [illegible] red by the intelligent discussion of its history and its principles, and I am sure your organization will continue to furnish courageous and well-appointed champions wherever the lists of debate are opened."

At noon the members marched in a body to the state house, where they were tendered a reception by the governor and legislature. Upon arriving at the state capitol the band played "Dixie," and as the league marched into the house the members of the legislature arose, and with shouts and waving of handkerchiefs and [illegible] gs welcomed the visitors. They were [illegible] med by Speaker Clapp and Governor Taylor. President Thurston responded.

President Thurston said in part, "We [illegible] ome with a better idea of the [illegible] ennessee than we ever had before, and [illegible] it will be worth millions to the state [illegible] ndeed blessed. We recognize that there [illegible] wo political parties, and when they are [illegible] ual in strength the public interests are best [illegible] bserved. Thank God that the republican party is in the supremacy and that the democratic party is strong enough to hold its own."

The applause which followed the speech was [illegible] long duration and then the band played "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie" and intense enthusiasm was again manifested, members of both parties standing on chairs and desks and waving [illegible] ags. Several other brief addresses were made and the reception ended.

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB PLATFORM.

The convention met again at 3 o'clock and a platform was presented and adopted, that heartily congratulates the country upon the success and marvelous prosperity that has attended the first year of republican resumption of power in the federal government; congratulates President Harrison, declares absolute confidence and pledges him cordial support, rejoices in the restoration of dignity, vigor and statesmanship in the conduct of foreign affairs, as illustrated by the Samoan treaty and the Pan-American congress; in the prudent management of the treasury department, by which the national debt is being extinguished with signal ability and the money market protected against speculative combinations, and in the great improvement of the postal service, and the faithfulness and practical wisdom that have characterized the present management of the other departments of the government.

The platform demands the maintenance of the American system of protection to industry and labor, but pledges support to a thorough and equitable revision of the tariff so as to adapt the protection it affords to changed business conditions, and arraigns the democratic party for the manner in which for years it has prevented the accomplishment of this purpose, denounces the practice of the democratic party in its systematic, persistent and outrageous effort to deprive southern republicans of the right of the franchise, asserts the expressed determination of the republican party to maintain this right to the fullest extent, and condemns any theory of state rights which shall be held to prevent the government from protecting all its citizens in the enjoyment of civil, religious and political rights. The government of the United States, having an unquestioned right to demand of every citizen service in her defense in time of peril, is bound by every principle of honor, consistency and good faith to protect citizens in the full and free enjoyment of each and every right conferred by the constitution, and this convention protests against seating in the American congress any applicant, no matter of which party, who presents himself for admission, when his election was obtained by fraud, violence or assassination, and approves the present action of congress in carrying out this policy. The platform favors general provisions of the interstate commerce law and demands regulation of all railway and transportation lines in a manner to insure fair and reasonable rates to producers and consumers, favors such legislation as would prevent illegal combinations and unjust exactions by aggregated capital and corporate powers, insists upon the suppression of trusts and like schemes at the same time protecting all American business interests from destructive and unfair attacks.

We emphasize our approval of liberal and equitable pension laws. No soldier, whether disabled in the service or elsewhere, should be permitted to end his days in the poorhouse, nor should his family be allowed to suffer want. The discriminating preference of Union veterans in appointments to public office, which is one of the features of this administration, as a just and liberal policy toward soldiers and sailors who defended the government, meets our warmest approval.

We recognize the dignity of labor and the necessity of proper legislation to protect its interests. We shall unswervingly oppose every attempt to lessen the fruits of toil or place honest workmen in competition with paupers and convicts, domestic or foreign. Rigid enforcement of the administration of the alien contract labor law commands our approbation. The request of the wage workers for reasonable hours of labor demands and should receive legislative consideration. We approve the action of various republican legislatures in the adoption of a system of ballot reform whereby fraud at the polls is prevented and every elector enabled to vote independently and intelligently. We believe the education of the masses to be the best preventive of bad government, and therefore we favor federal assistance where needed in the work of eliminating illiteracy among the population.

The republican party, always distinguished for its courage, has always been prompt in recognizing any display of this quality by its leaders. In lieu of this policy, this convention expresses approbation of Speaker Reed's action in standing boldly for the principle of the majority against democratic power in and out of congress.

"An amendment that created the only break during the two days' session was offered by [illegible] Revel, of Washington, and rejected after a heated debate. It was: "And we demand that our representatives in congress redeem every pledge made to the people at Chicago in 1888, by repealing the internal revenue laws, by revising the tariff, by the passage of the Blair educational bill, by completely restoring silver to the currency of the country, and by liberal pensioning of every federal soldier."

After disposing of the platform the committee on the league submitted a declaration emphasizing the expressed divorcement of the work of the organization from all efforts to influence the action of conventions or to indicate a preference for only individual candidates, declaring that it was not in the province of the league to dictate the policy or principles of the party; calling attention of state leagues to the necessity of organizing in every promising congressional district; to the necessity of immediate organization in the South, and calling the attention of the national and national congressional committee and national and state executive committees to the necessity of immediate preparation and distribution of campaign literature. The report was adopted as presented. The next convention will be held in Cincinnati.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Hon. John M. Thurston, Nebraska; secretary, A. P. Humphreys, New York; treasurer, Hon. Phineas Lonsberry, Connecticut, and a long list of vice presidents and members of the executive committee. Adjourned sine die.

Rhode Island Democratic Ticket.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 5.—The democratic state convention this morning nominated for governor William W. Davis, of Pawtucket, for lieutenant governor, [illegible] Wardwell of Bristol, [illegible] the rest of the 1887 ticket.

In the platform the democrats declare adhesion to all wholesome reforms tending to purity of elections, economy in administration and abolition of oppressive monopolies; condemn trusts, affirm devotion to the principles of tariff reform enunciated by ex-President Cleveland, heartily commend the democratic members of the national house in the stand against the partisan conduct of the speaker, congratulate the people upon the adoption of ballot reform, and pledge themselves to strengthen the system.

Mrs. Cleveland a Shrewd Politician.

BUFFALO, March 5.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Perrine. Mrs. [illegible] the guest of her schoolgirl friends. Mrs. Cleveland was asked by her if her husband intended to run for president. She was very diplomatic, and said that Mr. Cleveland was not in politics. The question was further pressed, and reference made to Mr. Cleveland's many letters. His wife refused to say anything about them.

A Chinaman Splits Another's Head.

VIRGINIA, Nev., March 5.—Two Chinese wood choppers had a desperate fight in their cabin this morning. Se Hoy killed his antagonist, who was known as "Six Bitty," by chopping his head open with a hatchet. Hoy was also seriously wounded, but he resisted arrest and held the cabin some time before he was finally captured.

The British Conquest.

BOSTON, March 5.—It is reported that an English syndicate is negotiating for the purchase of four firms in the United States [illegible] to control of the manufacture of soda water and beer apparatus for both con $5,000,000 and $3,000,000.

Young Englishman Who Sought Canadian Ranches Murdered for Money.

OTTAWA, March 5.—[Special Telegram.]—Developments in the Princeton murder case are extremely sensational. Without a doubt the young Englishman so mysteriously killed was a victim of a murderous conspiracy. It is proved that Burchell and his wife are the chief members of a regularly organized gang for wholesale murder. Their scheme was to advertise for young gentlemen with means who wish to emigrate to Canada to learn ranching. In many cases good openings as partners in ranches were offered. With two or three of the wealthiest victims in hand the party start for the Dominion. The schemers generally manage to secure about £500 as a guarantee before starting. On arriving here they proceed to a desolate part of the country, where the ranch is alleged to be situated.

Here the victims are murdered in cold blood for the sake of the valuables with them, and when killed it was an easy thing for the murderers to get away. Although crime after crime has been discovered, there was such a mystery that the perpetrators could not be discovered.

The woman Burchell has with him, and who passes as his wife, is very pretty. She has been arrested as an accessory, and no doubt she assisted in luring many young Englishmen to death. There is no doubt that the murdered man Benwell, whose body was found in a swamp last week, was murdered by Burchell, but how many other victims there were is not known.

Campanini's Voice Has Been Repaired.

NEW YORK, March 5.—[Special Telegram.]—A well-known throat specialist examined Campanini's throat last fall and found a tumor on one of the vocal chords. Campanini was in despair, believing his voice lost, but the specialist believed he could remove the tumor and restore the voice. The removal involved a long series of operations, as the tumor had to be cut off bit by bit, and during the entire winter Campanini has been submitting himself to the surgeon's knife. The last operation has been made, and the singer is assured that as soon as the throat is healed he will be able to sing as of yore.

After Ten Years of Almost Post Deafness John Wansley is Cured in Two Days.

Three Operations by Dr. Aborn, the Successful Eye, Ear, Catarrh, Throat and Lung Physician, Imparts to Him Perfect Hearing.

READ HIS SWORN AFFIDAVIT.

Portland, Or., Feb. 25, 1890

JOHN WANSLEY, being duly sworn, does depose and say:

I hereby certify that for eight or ten years I have been afflicted with deafness; I also have had the catarrh of the head in its worst form, and I applied to Dr. Aborn, Fourth and Morrison street, two days ago for treatment, and at that time I was so deaf in both ears that I could not hear the ticking of a watch when placed against my head. By three treatments Dr. Aborn has, to my great astonishment, so perfectly restored my hearing that I can now hear a watch tick about three feet distant from my head, and his treatment caused me no pain or the least inconvenience. My catarrh, also, which was so troublesome, has been greatly benefited by two treatments. I certainly feel almost dazed at such a quick restoration of my hearing. May the Doctor live long to relieve the afflicted of their suffering, is the prayer of his grateful patient,

JOHN WANSLEY,

BUCKLEY IS AGAIN CONVICTED

Resignation of Justice Tuttle—Spring Race Meeting—Repairing the Clan Mackenzie Snowbound Travelers Here

The return of regulation Oregon weather seems to have had a beneficial effect on the councilmen as they were all in good humor and spirits when they gathered in the auditor's office last evening previous to the meeting of the council.

Auditor Wood was preparing his resignation for presentation, and appealed to the councilmen for information as to how it should be written. No one had ever seen such a document, and none could give any information, and, after canvassing the matter for some time, it was decided there was no precedent in the matter as no auditor had ever died or resigned. Mr Wood had managed to get as far as "I take my pen in hand to" and there stuck.

There was so much chaffing and joking going on that it was 8 o clock before the mayor took his seat and the sapient nine took their places in front of him. The usual number of petitions and communications were read under the proper head and a round dozen asking for allowances of indebtedness correction or cancellation of taxes were referred in a bundle to the committee on ways and means.

THE ORDINANCE WAS PASSED

An amendment to the ordinance granting certain privileges to the Multnomah Street Railway Company, giving them the right to erect and maintain poles and wires on the streets on which they have railways, provided that nothing in the ordinance shall allow the erection of poles between the curb lines of any street or any other obstruction to the streets except overhead wires which shall be subject to the approval of the common council was passed under suspension of the rules.

ACCEPTED THE TERMS

The Willamette Heights Railway Company, the Multnomah Street Railway Company and Frank Frand accepted the terms of the ordinances granting them street railway franchises.

BILLS FOR CLEANING SEWERS.

The sum of $5000 was transferred from the general fund to the fund for repairing sewers and removing nuisances. The bills for cleaning sewers and other work incidental to the late flood already amount to about $3000 and do not include any sewer repairs.

INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

On recommendation of the committee on streets further consideration of the ordinance forbidding the removal of houses through the streets was indefinitely postponed the committee stating that they have under consideration an ordinance providing under what restrictions houses may be moved through the streets.

UNDER SUSPENSION OF RULES

An ordinance adopting the report of the city surveyor in the matter of a street on the Cornell road from B to J was passed under suspension of the rules, Mr Fliedner stating that the Sisters particularly desired that this work be forwarded as they were anxious to begin the erection of a large hospital in that section

THE CITY HALL PLANS.

Messrs. Hoyt, Showers and Scoggin the committee appointed to ascertain the best method of procuring plans for the city hall, submitted a report recommending that competition be open to all and that there be four prizes offered as follows First, the awarding of the contract for the plans second, the sum of $700 third, prize, $500, and fourth prize, $300—making in all $1500 It is further recommended that a committee be appointed to be known as the city hall building committee who shall draw up a proposal to be submitted to all architects stating the general requirements as to the number of rooms and the general arrangement and size of the same and also as to the requirements for city jail and police department, size of ground and location plans to be submitted by June 1, in the name of the architect or firm the selection of the plans to be decided by the council The report was adopted and the committee discharged.

A BUILDING COMMITTEE

In accordance with the above recommendation Showers introduced a resolution authorizing the mayor to appoint a building committee who should have charge of the matter of procuring plans and who should extend a general supervision over the building of the city hall.

A motion was made to adopt the resolution when Mr Gerdes rose and said he could not see why they should appoint a building committee so soon, before there were any plans and before the ground had been cleared of the old buildings.

Forbes thought the resolution was a little previous and that it might be as well to wait a while.

Farrell said everybody should be in readiness for pushing the work of construction If they were going to speculate on the next lot of councilmen they might never get a hall

Fliedner said that at the last meeting Gerdes was in a great hurry to get on with the hall and thought they should be at work now As to a change in the council, it would be possible to get a good committee without including any whose terms of office expired next June

Forbes jokingly remarked that he did not know where they could get a better committee than the three retiring members—Fleidner, Gastendeick and himself

The mayor said this was purely a matter of business If they were going to build a city hall they must leave politics out of it altogether and have concerted action There was no reason why all the preliminary arrangements should not be made, and everything got in readiness for going ahead with the work of construction as soon as the ground could be cleared The coming election should not be considered in the matter

Showers said it did not make any difference as to who was appointed. If one of the retiring councilmen was placed on it another could be put in his place when he was gone.

Farrell urged the necessity of going ahead and completing all preliminary work

Woodward said that after paying for the ground there would be only $75 000 to expend in building till authority could be obtained from the next legislature to issue more bonds and it would not take long to spend that sum. The question being called for, the resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote The mayor stated that he would appoint the committee to-day

TENDERED HIS RESIGNATION

At the conclusion of the regular business Auditor Wood tendered his resignation to take effect immediately On motion it was accepted and filed

A VOTE OF THANKS

Fliedner introduced a preamble and resolution to the effect that

WHEREAS W H Wood has faithfully and efficiently performed the duties of auditor and clerk of this city for over three years,

Resolved That the thanks of the council and the citizens are due him

Unanimously adopted.

MATTHEWS APPOINTED AUDITOR

Gerdes proposed that the council proceed to the election of an auditor which motion carried and on the ballot being spread W F Matthews received eight votes one voting blank, and he was declared duly elected auditor

SNOWBOUND TRAVELERS

C T Battelle and J B Kirkland Had Quite an Experience but Are Here Safely

Charles T Battelle retiring and J B Kirkland incoming city passenger agent of the Southern Pacific have reached the city after a tour on which they encountered considerable snow Mr Battelle saw the snow between Sacramento and Ogden so high that the tops of the telegraph poles were just above it. In the cuts the cars grazed the snow as they swayed in passing When they arrived in Portland their train was stopped at the yards to allow the Northern passenger train to pull out to the inconvenience of a great many passengers wishing to take passage

Mr Battelle says he has had a royal good time having been at Paso Robles Salt Lake Kansas City Denver and Kansas towns where relatives of his reside. He will stay in Portland and in the same line of business, though its exact nature he does not mention

Mr Kirkland was six days in going from San Francisco to Denver over the Atlantic & Pacific He comes from the general agency of the Union Pacific at San Francisco prior to which engagement he was with the Pennsylvania road for fifteen years

THE E N COOKE SUNK.

She Runs on the Rocks at Clackamas Rapids and Goes Down

The steamer E N Cook was sunk Tuesday in the Willamette near the Clackamas rapids a short distance below Oregon City Captain Patterson left the Ash street dock with the boat, having on board a pretty heavy load among the cargo being about sixty tons of cement for the Crown Paper mill company at the falls

Everything went along smoothly until the turn below the rapids was reached. When the boat shot around she failed to strike the current just right, and a big eddy run her bow on the rocks, staving in her hull. The captain succeeded in beaching the steamer on the sand in quiet water before she entirely filled. The boat now lies with the water just covering decks and is free from further damage unless the river should rise.

Captain Graham, of the steamer Altona was wired for help, and at 10 o clock Tuesday night came down from Oregon City and worked until morning getting the steamer in shape so that she could rest easy, and in transferring the sixty tons of cement to her own decks About the same time Captain James Troup left Portland with the steamer Salem and a full crew for the scene, where he remained all day yesterday making preparations for raising the submerged boat

The E N Cooke was built in 1871 and was valued at $14,000. Just how much she is damaged cannot yet be fully determined but it is thought that possibly $300 will successfully raise her and place her in good serviceable condition

JOHN BUCKLEY AGAIN CONVICTED

The Folly of Committing Perjury to Shield Another Criminal

John Buckley was yesterday convicted of perjury for the second time and a term in the penitentiary is all that he can now reasonably expect. Buckley was already wearing the garb of a convict, having been sentenced to serve a term of five years when the supreme court granted him a new trial He looked forward to another chance for his liberty, not without considerable hope as Brown the principal witness had left the state But the result of the trial yesterday showed that even this advantage was not sufficient to secure an acquittal

The case was called in Judge Stearns's court yesterday morning and the trial occupied but a short time The few witnesses interested in the case were not long telling what they knew and the jury after having been out only twenty minutes, during which time two ballots were taken returned a verdict of guilty Buckley's bondsmen, having already withdrawn the prisoner was remanded into the custody of the sheriff He will be re-sentenced some time this week

The crime for which Buckley will have to do penal servitude consisted of swearing falsely at the trial of William Brown who stabbed him on the street one night. Brown was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to kill, and during his trial, Buckley perjured himself to shield his assailant.

An attorney, who has been somewhat interested in the case, stated yesterday that the testimony of a witness who was supposed would clear the defendant was the means of his conviction. "It is the testimony of Mrs. Schneider said he "that convicted Buckley this time Brown was away and could do no harm

JUSTICE TUTTLE HAS RESIGNED

The County Commissioners Appoint City Auditor W H Wood to Succeed Him

Major B B Tuttle, after discharging the duties of magistrate of the South Portland justice court for nearly two terms, sent his resignation to the county commissioners yesterday morning This step was not an entire surprise to the commissioners as Justice Tuttle had previously intimated that he had such intentions, and when the letter was read at the meeting yesterday morning the resignation was formally accepted

As Justice Tuttle's successor, the commissioners appointed City Auditor W H Wood Mr Wood has served the public in an official capacity for some time and will no doubt fill the office to which he has been appointed to the entire satisfaction of all concerned

The resignation of Justice Tuttle is regretted even by those in the legal profession, whose cases he sometimes decided adversely They all recognized in him an impartial magistrate and gave him credit for doing what is right as near as he knew how During his term of office—a period covering nearly four years—he raised the court from little, dingy judicial quarters to the respectable appearing legal chambers they now are His regime has met the approbation of all attorneys who practiced in his court

Major Tuttle is going to Southern California for his wife's health within a few weeks and then will go East in time to attend the twenty fifth anniversary of the military order of Loyal Legion in Philadelphia on the 15th of April Upon his return to Portland he will engage in some private business.

THE REPAIRS OF THE MACKENZIE

Men Clearing Away Debris—The Ship's Big Bow Sprit Taken Out

The fifteen or more workmen on the Clan Mackenzie, are making rapid progress in dismantling the bow of all encumbrances The heavy rolled steel bow sprit has been removed by derricks and now lies across the decks of the steamer Whitelaw under the Clan's stem Men are at work tearing away the upper wood deck, as far back as splintered, and the wooden bulkhead being cut away almost on a level with the water the vessel is nearly ready for the cofferdam to be built

Nothing now remains in the way of preliminaries for the repairs except some of the torn steel sheets which gap open and make the great gash look doubly fearful While the work of repairs is going on in the fore part of the ship the rest of the vessel has not been left alone The sailors have scrubbed the paint on both the wood and iron work until the decks are very presentable and the cabins have also undergone a thorough cleaning The upholstery which, for a time was thought to have been damaged past remedy has all been saved, and Captain Simpson tiring of hotel rooms will move into his old quarters on the ship the latter part of the week where he will feel more at home The captain finished taking an inventory of the contents of the ship's medicine chest and as the stock is being replenished by a resident doctor according to American maritime laws the ship is ready for almost any emergency to her officers or crew

LOCAL SPORTING MATTERS

More Pugilists Have Made Their Appearance in the City

Tom Cleary and Frank Glover noted middle weights came to the city several days ago and both evidently have an eye to business Cleary came with the intention of making a match with the winner of the Conly Flaherty fight and will no doubt be accommodated if he has no match on his hands by the time this battle is decided.

Glover has expressed a willingness to make the same kind of a match There is also some talk of bringing Glover and Cleary together as then Portland sports would witness a battle that is worth seeing

At a late hour last evening a number of Portland sports put their heads together to discuss what best can be done with the fistic talent on hand A match between Cleary and Dave Campbell was finally decided upon Dave is supposed to be willing to make such a match and the two men and their backers will meet at the Mechanics pavilion this afternoon at 2 o clock to make the necessary arrangements

Both Conly and Flaherty are hard at work training for their contest which takes place Saturday night. Conly while admitting the prowess of his adversary is confident of winning

The lease of the Mechanics pavilion has changed hands Morgan and Gerah are out and W B Faulkner is in control The building will still be conducted as an athletic club room where all kinds of contests will be given

RESULT OF PLAYING WITH A LAMP

A Small Fire on Ninth and D Streets Last Evening Calls Out the Entire Department

Shortly before 10 o clock last evening a general alarm turned in from box 9 called the fire department to extinguish a small blaze in a house next to the corner of Ninth and D owned by Walsh, The building is a small one and is occupied by a German family named Niederauer Mrs. Niederauer had gone out leaving her two daughters aged 12 and 14 years in the house with two of the neighbor's children

During her absence the youngest girl thought she would experiment with an oil lamp which was standing on the kitchen table She blew into the top of the chimney and the lamp exploded Fortunately there was not a great deal of oil in it or else all of the children might have been seriously perhaps fatally burned. Helen the girl who caused the explosion was severely burned about the body the head and both arms were scorched to the elbow A physician was called in as soon as possible and everything was done to put her out of pain for her suffering was intense At last accounts her condition though not critical was rather serious The rest of the girls luckily escaped with but a few slight burns

A young man who saw the blaze through the window ran for the nearest key and then turned in the alarm If one pull made the box ring he thought that two or three pulls would make it ring more He accordingly turned in a general alarm when he had no business to turn in an alarm only for one fire district

The blaze was extinguished without much effort and but little damage was done by fire The furniture suffered more from the rough usage in being carried out than from the fire or water

The entire loss will fall short of $100

THE THEATERS

"The Great Metropolis" Still a Drawing Card—A Good Business at Cordray's—Maggie Mitchell Next Week

"The Great Metropolis" drew another crowded house last night at the Marquam Grand, and the audience departed well pleased with the evening's performance Everything connected with the play went all right Miss Barry Miss Heron Mr Morris and Harry Bell seem to have "caught on" and are favorites already The gallery gods are especially favorable to Mr Bell and his Motto song receives an enthusiastic encore nightly

"The Great Metropolis" will be repeated to-night

CORDRAY'S THEATER MUSEE

"Leah" at this house is still drawing large crowds and the audience last night seemed well satisfied with the performance if the applause given is any criterion The minor parts are all acceptably acted by the members of the company The musee performance this week is unexceptionally good and should be seen to be appreciated The same bill to night

MAGGIE MITCHELL.

The famous American actress will be the next attraction at the Marquam Grand. She will make her first visit to our city on Tuesday evening March 11 presenting for the opening performance her widely known and ever popular play Fanchon the Cricket "Fanchon, to theater goers must ever be associated among their fondest and purest stage recollections and Maggie Mitchell must always go with the recollections. The fragrance of innocent peasantry life is wafted around a touching story told by the artist in accents of mingled mirth and human interest The repertoire for the five nights and matinee has been arranged as follows Tuesday and Friday nights, Fanchon Wednesday night and Saturday matinee "Little Barefoot Thursday and Saturday nights Ray The sale of seats begins this morning at the opera house

CASTLE ROCK BOOMING

Short Talk With Mr W A Williams—A Troublesome Trip.

Mr W A Williams of Castle Rock is at the Esmond and tells quite an interesting story of a long trip he was put to by an interview published in these columns some time ago with Sheriff Hamilton of Union county in which he spoke of the recent jailbreak there the prisoners having sawed their way out of the window guard Mr Williams put the cells in the jail and when he read the account of the jailbreak he knew that rival contractors would make use of the story to cry his cells down so he went up to Union to see about it If the article had stated that it was the window of a corridor and not a cell, it would have been all right

But as it was Mr Williams went up there and came back with an affidavit presumably prepared to his satisfaction giving assurance that his cells were untouched

He spoke very enthusiastically of Castle Rock's prospects The new hotel is now occupied and running in full blast Grade stakes are set for two more railroads. Another new sawmill is added to the two already running A New York syndicate has recently purchased the one of the two coal mines which was not in operation and will soon start up The four shingle mills are all running

STEAMERS STEM THE ICE

The Ione Returns From La Camas—The Undine Reaches Vancouver

The steamer Ione managed to work through the ice past Vancouver yesterday and late last evening she returned with a load of paper having been successful in reaching the La Camas mills. The captain reports the ice above Vancouver to have all disappeared but below, and as far down as Hamilton's point the blockade sticks to the Washington shore and is very heavy The steamer picked her way through a narrow channel near the western shore and hugged within a boat's length Shaw's island until open water was reached The Undine also arrived from Vancouver last night and her captain states that the ferry at that place is running having made a channel through the ice Little difficulty is experienced in getting around for the steamer followed the same tactics of the Ione which steamer had preceded the Undine on her up trip some hours When the steamer left Vancouver to return to Portland a large amount of ice broke loose and the captain is afraid that it has floated into and blocked up what little channel there is left and the probability is that the steamer will not be able to reach the town as was the intention to-day The Undine endeavored to force the ice loose near Vancouver but the pack was so thick and heavy that the boat could not drive her bow in more than six feet and the attempt was abandoned

A HEALTHY SIGN

Advance Guard of Spring Travel Enthusiastic Over Pacific Northwest Prospects—Emma Juch's Investments

With resumption of travel has come the advance guard of the grand army of visitors expected this spring If 25 per cent of the people planning to come do so large sections of the East will be practically depopulated It is highly encouraging to hear the almost unanimous predictions by our visitors of a great future for the entire Northwest. Among the most enthusiastic are Emma Juch the celebrated actress and her manager Mr Locke. Both are investing largely their latest purchase consisting of two blocks in San de Fuca the new town at the inner entrance of the straits of Fuca. The natural charms attaching to this locality win great praise from Eastern visitors who promptly style it the Saratoga of the Pacific

MATTERS OVER THE RIVER.

The Annual Assembly of the Grand Council of R. and S. M

Important Notes About School Matters—Orange Thief—Storage Room—Loss of Stock—School Election—Child Lost—Etc

The annual assembly of the grand council of Royal and Select Masters of the state of Oregon took place at Masonic hall yesterday commencing at 10 A M delegates from Corvallis McMinnville and East Portland councils being present The proceedings were very harmonious and satisfactory to all concerned In the afternoon the annual election of officers occurred, and resulted as follows

W C Crawford Corvallis grand master A B Bloomer East Portland deputy grand master John Whiteaker East Portland, grand illustrious master S th L. Pope, Portland grand principal conductor of the work John Miller Corvallis grand treasurer F J Babcock grand recorder

These officers were duly installed into office by Past Grand Master G McD Stroud assisted by Wallace Baldwin as grand marshal Visiting delegates were hospitably entertained by their companions of East Portland at the Osborne hotel where a fine lunch was served It was decided to hold the next annual assembly at McMinnville in February 1891 The assembly adjourned at 4 P M and many of the delegates returned to their homes on the afternoon train while others remained to transact business in Portland

SCHOOL NOTES

Many have asked why the directors of this district (21) did not report what was needed for school purposes This may be answered by saying it was not necessary to levy a tax for school purposes for this year as there will be sufficient funds to run the schools Both taxes and bonds are for building purposes If it were not for the improvements to be made it would have been unnecessary to levy a tax this year This prosperous state of affairs was brought about by the careful management of the directors and close collections of the clerk

The resolution in regard to the purchase of the Adventists school property on Twenty first street which was passed at the annual school meeting Monday night leaves the matter in the hands of the directors One member of the board made an examination of the premises and grounds on Tuesday afternoon, and he was very favorably impressed but with the improvement on hand to be carried out this year it may be doubted whether the board can secure the property

The ground donated the district by James B Stephens was valued at $12 000 a year ago but it is worth to day fully $1 000 if not more This will be available when the litigation concerning it and the other property has been settled

The plans for the proposed two story building in Stephens addition were modeled after the Couch schoolhouse Portland which is regarded as a model schoolhouse in every way It is not intended the building shall be loaded with unnecessary ornaments but will be plain and convenient The plans and elevations are on exhibition in the windows of the drug store in Stephens addition and indicate the appearance of the building when completed

There will be no work done on the four room annex of the North Central building until after the school has closed for the year which however will leave ample time The board will doubtless take some action regarding the erection of the new Sunnyside schoolhouse at the next meeting

THE COMING SCHOOL ELECTION

At the school election which takes place next Monday a clerk will be elected to succeed Mr A W Lambert and a director to succeed Mr H C Hill A large number of prominent citizens have expressed a desire to see both these gentlemen re-elected knowing the interests of the district will be better served than by electing new men Mr Lambert has made an excellent record as his annual report shows Mr Hill was chosen to succeed Mr J T Stewart about eight months ago and is now thoroughly acquainted with the business of the districts and has proven an efficient director The election of a new clerk or a new director would not be advantageous and will not likely occur Mr Lambert and Mr Hill were interviewed yesterday and both expressed a willingness to accept re-election

CHILD LOST

Yesterday about noon the 5 year old boy of Louis Steghaur who lives near Sullivan's gulch on F street wandered away and until a late hour last night had not been found His mother went away at noon leaving the boy at a near neighbor's house but the child wandered away during her absence. The boy's father came home from his work at 6 o clock and commenced hunting for his lost son The boy is unable to speak English and of course cannot tell his name It is thought he has wandered to some neighbor's house and will turn up all right to day If any one knows of his whereabouts and will inform the police it will be a great favor

FROM CROOK COUNTY

Mr Silvey Stuart arrived from Cross Keys Crook county yesterday where he has been looking after some stock in which he is interested He says the losses have been very great but not quite so severe as represented The last cold spell reduced the strength of stock that was exposed so much that they are unable to move He reported one sheep dealer who had 5000 head of sheep at the beginning of the winter but come out with 400 head

ORANGE THIEF

Henry Brown was being taken across the river Tuesday in charge of Policeman Cox and when they reached the fruit stand at the railroad the officer turned to speak to some one While he did so Brown stole several oranges and secreted them in his pocket However the act was detected he was brought before the recorder who imposed a fine of $2 in default of which he was sent to jail for twelve days

STORAGE ROOM

In accordance with the order of the common council a small shed for storage purposes has been built on the side of the fire department stable at Engineer engine house This storage room has been needed for a long time for grain and other feed for the department horses

THE ROUND OF THE COURTS

Legal News Gathered by the Reporters During the Day.

Suit for Injunction—Want Their Salaries—Roberts's Bail Reduced—Divorce Proceedings

Messrs Holman & DeLin yesterday commenced an injunction suit in Judge Shattuck's court to restrain F L Ray from whom they have leased their present quarters on Second street near Morrison from erecting a wooden structure in the rear of the building now occupied by them They claim that the erection of this building will make their right, as secured by the lease in their possession worthless that it will be the means of increasing their insurance if not taken away from them entirely that it will endanger their property by fire and that it will shut out the light and interfere with proper ventilation They allege that the building is being built in violation of the fire ordinance and they ask that Ray be restrained from going on with the work

A SUIT FOR SALARIES

Joseph Gschwandner representing the Gschwandner Trio a specialty combination, yesterday commenced suit in Judge Shattuck's court against John Cort to recover $630 a balance alleged to be due in salaries for professional services The plaintiff alleges that he made a contract with the defendant December 9 1889 for a twelve weeks engagement at the agreed price of $90 per week This engagement would not have expired until March 9 but on the 28th of January the trio were discharged

As Mr Cort has as yet filed no answer, his side of the story is not known

ROBERTS'S BAIL REDUCED

Attorney C E S Wood counsel for W C Roberts who was indicted Tuesday for embezzling $5000 from William Dunbar & Co his late employers yesterday morning made a motion that the personal effects of the defendant taken on a search warrant be restored to him Judge Stearns will hear arguments on this motion to day

Mr Wood also asked that the defendant's bail be reduced from $11 000 to $5000 This application was granted

REPENTING AT LEISURE

The following new divorce proceedings have been instituted in the circuit court

George Morgan against Adella Morgan The parties to this suit were married at Marion Linn county Ia Oct ber 2 1884 The ground upon which this complaint is based is that the defendant committed adultery with one Frank Benefield in this city on the 20th of last month The plaintiff also asks for the custody of his three minor children

Mary M Vollum against Frank O Vollum to whom she was wedded at Vancouver Wash June 4 1888 Plaintiff alleges that her husband deserted her on the 11th of January 1889

Joe Gribler and Grace Wills were yesterday given a license to wed

PEOPLE IN FULTON WILL NOT GO DRY

The county commissioners yesterday granted liquor licenses to H D Montgomery Joseph Polisby and Frank Precechtil all three residents of Fulton Montgomery took out a license for six months and the other two for three months each

The Municipal Courts

Judge Turner disposed of the usual "job lots in the police court yesterday

Sam Smith and G Rustrom simple drunks were fined $5 each George Thompson charged with the same offense was discharged William Taylor forfeited $10 on a charge of posting bills on lamp posts

Frank Adams was taxed $5 for permitting stock to run through the streets

Foo Ting was fined $10 for cutting and sawing wood on a sidewalk

Young D J Anderson the horse thief waived examination and was held to answer before the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $600 and the case of Lee On Toy the Chinaman arrested for stealing iron from the P & W V railway yards was continued until this afternoon

George Adler and Louis Warmicke two Germans who have recently had some trouble yesterday swore out warrants for each other's arrest in Justice Biles's court Adler charges Warmicke with assault and battery while the latter charges with assault with intent to kill Both cases will be looked into at 1 o clock this afternoon

Willie Gerdes and Harry Whitman the two boys who several days ago took too much liberty with Captain Tom Mountain's goat were yesterday brought before Justice Biles for a judicial reprimand They had sold the goat to a Mrs Johnson for $1 50 thinking that the animal was theirs in virtue of having seen it first The boys, no doubt profited by the lecture for they made all manner of promises when released
